Lewis In Middle as Split Ends Coal Operator Talks

MINE OWNERS DISAGREE ON NEGOTIATIONS

Southerners Unwilling to Confer With Union Boss About New Contract.

WASHINGTON—(UP)—John L. Lewis was caught in the middle today as southern soft coal operators refused to join northerners in offering to negotiate a new contract with Lewis' United Mine Workers.

Already in a bitter court battle with the government, Lewis was facing another fight to salvage his long-sought industry-wide wage agreement with the bituminous industry.

The northern and midwestern operators said they were ready and willing to negotiate immediately. The southern and far western operators said, "not yet."

The last convention of Lewis' United Mine Workers (AFL) committed him to fight for the industrywide contract which he won for the first time in 1945. He now must devise strategy to try to win it again.

Split Reappears.

The long-standing split between the northern and southern operator groups reappeared last night after the operators' national wage negotiating committee had been conferring privately for nearly eight hours.

The committee could not agree on the northern-sponsored move to announce willingness to reopen negotiations with Lewis immediately.

Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the northern Appalachian operators, announced that the northern and midwestern groups wanted to reaffirm their willingness to resume negotiations.

Henry Warden, representing the southern Appalachian operators, said his group was willing to negotiate but did not think the operators should initiate moves now. He explained that this position was based on Lewis' own attitude and on "other very important considerations which are of major import to the entire country."

Warden said these considerations included proposals for labor legislation and the government's court contest with the UMW. Lewis and the UMW were convicted of contempt of court Dec. 4 and fined $3,510,000 for defying a court order to cancel a strike signal.

The rift in the operators' committee caused it to adjourn sine die. It cannot be reassembled without the consent of all its five component parts. Those parts are the northern and southern Appalachian groups, the midwestern group, the far western group, the strip operators and the "captive" mines owned by steel firms.

ATTLEE MOVE RAISES ANGER OF CHURCHILL

Laborites Bringing End To Empire, Says War Leader.

LONDON — (UP) — Prime Minister Clement Attlee announced today that Britain was ready to give Burma her independence, drawing an angry blast by Winston Churchill against carving any such slice out of the British empire.

Churchill's oratory was at its best as he charged that the labor government "has in fact shorn Burma from the British crown" in the "process of the decline and fall of the British empire."

Attlee told commons that the first step toward giving Burma independence "within or without the commonwealth" would be taken soon. Burmese leaders will be invited to London to discuss self-government for the colonial realm flanking India, he said.

* * *

Churchill Hits Haste.

Red-faced and irate, Churchill lashed back at the labor government's "extraordinary haste" to get out of Burma so soon after the enormous sacrifices of British and Indian blood to liberate Burma from the Japanese.

Churchill tore into the government for what he called its mistakes in India and now the prospects in Burma so violently that the speaker broke in to remind that since a motion was before the house, he was out of order.

He subsided temporarily, only to renew the attack a little later when parliament procedure permitted. His attack was based on the principle he enunciated while he was Britain's wartime leader, that he had not become the king's first minister to preside over the dissolution of the British empire.

Attlee said it was the government's desire that the Burmese people "attain their self government by the quickest and most convenient path possible."

"We do not desire to retain within the commonwealth and empire any unwilling peoples," he said. "It is for the people of Burma to decide their own future, and we are certain that it will be to their own interest, as it will be to ours, if they decide to remain within the commonwealth, and we sincerely hope they will arrive at such a decision."

STORES ADOPT 9 P. M. CLOSING HOUR TONIGHT

Mansfield's record Christmas-shopping year swings into its grand climax tonight.

Most of the city's retail stores adopt a "shop-at-night" schedule.

Starting tonight, they will remain open until 9 p. m. The late closing hour also will prevail Saturday and Monday but on Tuesday the stores will revert to the regular 5:30 p. m. lock-up hour to permit their employes to spend Christmas eve at home.

Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford announced a special schedule for Saturday. He said windows at the post office would oberve these hours on the last Saturday before Christmas:

Parcel post, general delivery and stamp windows—7 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Registry—8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Postal savings and money orders—8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Mail cancellations dropped off somewhat yesterday. In contrast to the total of 176,400 on Wednesday, when the greatest number of cancellations in history were recorded, cancellations Wednesday were 169,700. Greeting cards accounted for most of the cancellations.

"There is still no real Christmas rush on parcel post," Ford said. "Early in the morning we get a fairly large crowd. From then on a few seem to come in with every bus that comes by, but that is about all. Perhaps the rush is coming this week end. I am still wondering what happened to it."

Although most stores have reported an accelerated pace in shopping over last year, shelves are still bulging with one of the largest stocks of recent years.

Heaviest runs of the season's shopping has been on toys and men's and women's ready-to-wear, merchants said. Visiting "Santas" in some of the department stores have drawn unusually large crowds of children and adults and scarce items such as nylons, shirts and linens have been snatched up in increasing quantities.

TRAPPED IN MACHINE

AKRON —(AP)— Trapped in a clay-mixing machine at the U. S. Stoneware Co., plant at nearby Tallmadge, Peter Pulich, 55, was killed yesterday when another worker unknowingly put the machine in operation.

Prices Drop 25 Per Cent On Yule Trees

Prices on yule trees were slashed an average of 25 per cent today as tree lot owners found themselves with an oversupply and increased competition from more retailers.

Florists, who regularly handle Christmas trees, said that the regular $4 trees are often sold at from 50 to 75 cents lower than quoted prices.

A Christmas tree lot operator said that everyone "who comes in the lot goes out with a tree."

This year saw more street corners and empty lots in the downtown district loaded with yule trees than in any previous year.

SCHOOL STAFF SHIFTS MADE

Glenn Robinson, principal of Hedges school, will become Mansfield school business manager Jan. 1, succeeding J. B. Moke who will become on-the-job training co-ordinator in the Senior high vocational department. Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller announced today.

Moke has been business manager and superintendent of buildings since 1922. He will work with V. H. Oberlander in handling war vets' training classes at Senior high, Supt. Miller said.

Replacing Robinson at the Hedges school will be Miss Irma Manitzer, a teacher, who will become principal in charge until the end of the year.

Robinson formerly was principal at the West Fifth street school.

Which Party Owns Ike Is Dark Secret

ABILENE, Kansas—(INS)—An interesting and intriguing political mystery revolves today around the question: is General Dwight D. Eisenhower a Democrat or a Republican? It's even a mystery in his own home town.

There is no record in "Ike's" home state of Kansas that conclusively proves his political affiliation.

The question assumes growing importance in view of reports that certain elements in both Democratic and Republican parties are talking up Eisenhower as a candidate for the presidency in 1948.

General Eisenhower himself has repeatedly declared he has no political aspirations.

Efforts of a correspondent to solve the question, "is Eisenhower a Democrat or a Republican?" led to a blank wall on his home grounds.

There is absolutely no evidence that Eisenhower ever registered as either a Democrat or a Republican while a resident of Abilene, Kansas.

85 PASSENGERS ALIVE AFTER PLANES CRASH

ABERDEEN, Md. — (AP) — Split-second reactions by two pilots were credited today with saving the lives of 85 passengers and crew members of two Miami-bound airliners which collided 2,000 feet in the air near here in an accident unprecedented in American commercial air travel.

None of the passengers suffered so much as a scratch, although both planes were damaged in the collision, which occurred in clear weather shortly after dark last night.

The co-pilot of one, a big, four-engined DC-4 Eastern Airlines craft carrying 56 passengers, said he saw the other, a two-engined Universal Airlines C-47, approaching from the left three or four miles north of Aberdeen. He pulled his ship up at the last instant and scraped over the top of the Universal plane, Eastern officials said.

The co-pilot, R. Brown of Miami, said he had "just a second or two" in which to avert disaster. The pilot of this plane, J. P. Kuhn, also of Miami, told a reporter, "Brown saved the day."

A three-by-five-foot hole was ripped in the tail section by the larger plane, while the Universal liner, carrying 22 passengers and a crew of three in a charter flight, had a hole driven into the upper portion of the fuselage, its escape hatch wrenched free and its radio and hydraulic system knocked out of commission.

Despite the damage, Henry Norris of Cambridge, Mass., pilot of the Universal ship, brought it down safely at the Aberdeen proving ground field, while the Eastern plane was landed uneventfully by Kuhn before waiting crash-wagons and fire-engines at National airport, Washington, D. C.

The four-engined DC-4, cruising at about 230 miles an hour, apparently had overtaken the slower aircraft. It had started from New York, while the Universal plane had taken off at Newark, N. J.

CIO SEEKS TO HOLD STEEL CONTRACTS

MILWAUKEE — (INS) — R. J. Thomas of Detroit, high-ranking CIO union official, today awaited a reply to his offer to return 10,000 striking Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company workers to their jobs if a presidential fact-finding board is appointed.

Thomas, international vice-president of the United Automobile Workers, who has been directing the 236-day-old strike at the West Allis, Wis., farm equipment plant, made his proposition to labor conciliators last night.

He said it was conditional on the Allis-Chalmers company joining with the union in asking President Truman to appoint a presidential panel to study issues in the dispute.

Army Court Critic Defends Soldier

FRANKFURT — (UP) — Earl J. Carroll of San Francisco, former U. S. Army officer and critic of the court martial system, prepared today to defend Pfc. Daniel P. Walczak, Detroit, Mich., against charges of murdering a German girl near Frankfurt last April.

Carroll tried unsuccessfully yesterday to disqualify all eight members of the court martial. He charged that Walczak and three other defendants were held for months in a Frankfurt military stockade without charges being filed against them and that they did not have access to legal advice.

Hawley to Leave Post With Election Board

Thirty-five political job seekers received the endorsement of the Richland county Republican executive committee last night, marking a major step in their bids for posts under the new state administration which will take office Jan. 1.

Made possible by the Republican landslide at the polls Nov. 5, the endorsements were largely for political jobs in the city and county, the committee leaving until a later date its recommendations on candidates for state and district jobs.

Ralph M. Hardy, chairman of the executive committee, announced the endorsements and revealed at the same time that Harry E. Hawley, clerk of the county board of elections, announced at the meeting his intention to resign the county.

Hawley confirmed the announcement but had nothing to say about his future plans.

However, he is a candidate for the post of liquor director in the cabinet of Gov.-Elect Thomas J. Herbert.

On that subject he said:

"I have done nothing for it but many of my friends tell me they're supporting me for the position."

* * *

Submits Resignation.

The board of elections was meeting this afternoon and Hawley said he would submit his resignation as the board's clerk at that time.

Among the 35 endorsements, for which there were some 50 candidates, were those of three other Republicans currently holding official positions. They seek other jobs. The committee endorsed candidates for two of the positions.

One of the stiffest rivalries for the committee's favor was between five persons for the superintendency of the state highway department in Richland county.

Swanger Endorsed.

Mayor Glenn Swanger of Shiloh won the endorsement and his chief contender, Charles H. Hebel, Mansfield street superintendent, was recommended for the assistant's post.

The committee did not endorse anyone for Hebel's city street superintendency. Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said Hebel is subject to compulsory retirement July 1 and that E. W. Davis, an assistant in the street department now, is scheduled to assume the superintendency when, and if, Hebel leaves.

For Hawley's position as clerk of the board of elections the committee endorsed Thomas Zeigler, former mayor of Bellville. Zeigler has helped the board during recent elections.

Jay C. Edwards, an employe in Mansfield's garbage department, was approved as superintendent of the department, and the present chief, Al Strachan, was listed among seven "special endorsements for any other available and suitable" state jobs in the future.

Mayor Vaughn, who appoints the superintendent, said that Strachan is "not being let out" by the committee's action in endorsing Edwards for his job.

ROCKET SECRET LONG GUARDED

By JULIAN HARTT

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—American aviation—which this month heralded its so-called "first" piloted rocket plance flight—was disclosed today to have secretly flown a human-piloted rocket ship more than two years ago.

This correspondent has learned exclusively that on July 5, 1944, test pilot Harry Crosby successfully flew a Northrop "Flying Wing" rocket plane at the Muroc (Cal.) army air base.

It is further understood that the results of this and subsequent rocket flights by Crosby, plus related research, opened such an amazingly new concept of future flight that the army will keep its "top secret" lid securely bolted on Northrop's military research for some time to come.

The midget bat-wing fighting plane—designed to ram its way through enemy bombers, shearing off wings or tail sections—flew "on power" for approximately five minutes while 31 gallons of chemical fuel scorched through its 17-pound rocket motor.

Shortly after the secret flights, the rocket idea was abandoned and jet engines substituted because rocket motor builders in 1944 were unable to supply a more efficient fuel combination than the analine and nitric acid—under nitrogen pressure—then available.

Movie Extras Cut $1,000,000 Plum

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Movie extras are going to cut up a million dollar Christmas present.

Major studios said the sum, to be ready by the end of the month, is being paid under a retroactive contract with the AFL Screen Extras Guild to an as yet undetermined number of actors.

ROGER NOT 'LOSTED'; WANTED TO SEE SHOW

Six-year-old Roger Snyder insisted that he wasn't "losted." He just wanted to see the floor show.

Police picked up Roger at 1 a. m. today at the Greystone night club. He'd been away from his West Dickson avenue home since noon.

Club officials, who called police, said the little like knew where he was.

"He said he wanted to see the floor show," they told officers.

Roger, with his high-power curiosity curbed, was taken home to mother by two burly cops.

3 MURDERERS DIE IN NATIONAL CAPITAL TODAY

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Two murderers died in the electric chair today, but the execution of Joseph D. Medley was delayed while his attorney made frantic efforts to save his life.

WASHINGTON— (INS)—Joseph D. Medley, suave and slippery lifelong criminal, and two other condemned murderers were scheduled to die today in the District of Columbia electric chair.

Medley was convicted of the brutal slaying of Mrs. Nancy Boyer, an attractive, red-haired divorcee, whose body was found in her luxuriously-furnished Washington apartment on March 6, 1945.

The other men facing execution were Julius Fisher, a janitor found guilty of the murder of Miss Catherine C. Reardon, Washington Cathedral librarian, and William Copeland, who killed his sister-in-law, Mrs. Dora Johnson, during a family quarrel.

Lawyers for the doomed trio sought vainly up to the last minute for legal loopholes which might enable the men to cheat the chair.

James J. Laughlin, attorney for Medley, carried to the supreme court his fight for Medley's life but the high tribunal rejected the plea.

Similar rejections were meted out to the attorneys for Fisher and Copeland. All three cases had been before the supreme court twice previously.

All Remain Calm.

Jail officials said the three showed no signs of collapse as the hour of execution neared. All ordered the customary "last meal —of chicken and trimmings and all ate heartily.

Medley figured in a sensational break from the district jail last April.

With another inmate of death row, Earl McFarland, ex-Marine convicted of a sex murder, he pried an opening in the jail ventilating system with a can opener after overpowering guards.

Medley was captured seven hours later, cringing in a sewer outlet, but McFarland succeeded in hitch-hiking to his home town, Knoxville, Tenn., and was not seized until 10 days after the escape.

McFarland was electrocuted last summer.

Dies Laughing At His Own Joke

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(UP)—Seventy-three-year-old Loren Porter Michael literally died laughing at his own joke, doctors said today.

Michael told service station attendant Arnold Lucas he had taken his car from Chicago to Phoenix on one tank of gas, then explained he had it shipped by train. He laughed so hard at his joke he suffered a heart attack.

SNOW CREATES TRAFFIC HAZARD

Light snow which began falling before noon today raised Mansfielders' hopes of a white Christmas, but it also made driving slippery on city streets.

The weatherman, however, soon threw cold water on the white Christmas idea by predicting the snow would turn to rain by tonight or tomorrow.

With winter's second cold snap being pushed out of Ohio by a mass of warm air from the gulf stream, light rain was the forecast for tomorrow.

Yesterday's cold, which brought a low of seven degrees above zero at Hayesville, was nearly forgotten today as the mercury edged upward. The low this morning at Hayesville was 21, while the high was 28.

SWIM SUITS TO GET POLAR WATER TEST

ABOARD BYRD SOUTH POLE EXPEDITION FLAGSHIP AT SEA —(INS)— Rubberized "swim suits" which, it is expected, may someday save the lives of thousands exposed to freezing polar waters will be tested as a vital experiment of the Antarctic "Operation Highjump" mission.

Fifty-one rugged American physical specimens are aboard this flagship today ready to begin the tests when the expedition reaches its goal at Little America.

The group is headed by Lieut. Halvor Iverson of Savannah, Ga., commander of the navy's underwater demolition team number four.

FORGERS CAUGHT

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

Think again—isn't there someone you have forgotten in that list of Christmas gifts and greeting cards?

It seems that there is nothing to that rumor that Mississippi's Senator Bilbo accepted those payments in Confederate money.

The things that were confidently anticipated for 1946 are now being as confidently forecast for 1947—with an increase in home-building as the headliner.

Rapid Increase In Hospital Needs

MANSFIELD'S progress within the past twenty-five years is evidenced in few more impressive ways than by growth in requirement for hospital service. Much of this, of course, results from education of the public in the advantages of hospitalization, and the obvious preference of physicians to make calls on patient in a hospital, rather than in homes.

Recollection of Mansfield's early ventures into hospital facilities, starting with an "Emergency hospital" of several beds in the basement of the Y. M. C. A., and later removal to a West Third street location, where a residence was converted into a temporarily serviceable hospital, serves as a reminder of the forward-looking attitude of Mansfielders who took the initiative in organizing a money-raising campaign to provide the initial fund to build and equip a "community" hospital—and it is recalled that the willing contributors to that civic enterprise numbered approximately 6,000.

A few years later came a substantial gift from the late Charles Ritter, which made possible the Margaret Ritter Sterner home for nurses, as a memorial to his daughter. Other enlargements and improvements have come along since, but even with all of these, requirements for hospitalization exceed facilities of General hospital, which was opened for service in June 1918.

One marked change within the past couple of decades has been the high percentage of maternity cases in which the expectant mother almost invariably goes to the hospital instead of being given attention at home, as was the custom before there was a hospital here.

Also contributing to the increase in requirements is the emphasis that has been given, within the past few years, to hospital insurance, designed to cover a part of hospitalization costs, which, in some instances, would otherwise be prohibitive.

Caring for patients in corridors, as has been done because of overcrowding, has been quite unsatisfactory, and now that this is to be stopped—on account of fire hazard—the matter of either providing more hospital space or restricting the number of admissions becomes one for almost immediate decision.

Growth of some cities has been such as to result in recognition of need for a second hospital, or one designed entirely for care of maternity cases, and the present situation in Mansfield is such as to open the subject for discussion as to the most advisable course to follow in enlarging this city's hospital facilities.

$6,500 a Year Too Little—Or Too Much

EXPRESSION of intent by Governor-elect Thomas J. Herbert to advocate salary raises for the directing heads of various state departments is unlikely to meet serious opposition—if it can be shown that persons chosen for various positions are well qualified for the jobs.

In all probability, when the salary of $6,500 a year for the several responsible executive positions in state government was fixed (25 years ago) that the compensation was considered adequate to attracting capable men, but—for good or ill—$6,500 a year no longer has the appeal that it had in earlier days and it is either too much or too little to pay the heads of state departments.

If the appointee is competent and dependable, then $6,500 a year is not enough—in comparison with payment for similar ability in private industry. If he is incompetent, then anything that is paid him is TOO MUCH.

Unless the "honor" is considered as a part of compensation, the $10,000 a year salary paid Ohio's governor is also too low, and Mr. Herbert's intention to ask consideration of the salary study commission report, with a view to modernizing the pay scale of elective and appointive state employes, seems well advised.

More Canadian Gold Mine Stock Offers

SCOUTING for "easy money" is progressing along accustomed channels, with an occasional new angle thrown in to captivate the unwary. One phase of the "get-rich-quick" appeal which has not changed with the years is the glowing picture of wealth attainable by purchase of gold mine stock—in which Toronto, Canada, now seems to be taking the lead.

Mailing lists of Toronto outfits include names of many people in the United States who are known to have accumulated a little surplus money, and it cannot be doubted some of these will become victims of unscrupulous promoters, as has been the case in the past—when attractive stock certificates served as the only reminder of foolish speculation . . . as numerous Mansfielders will readily recall.

Persons not familiar with schemes of this sort are advised to see their banker, lawyer, or responsible broker before parting with any of their money, however alluring an offer of speculative stock may be.

Philadelphia Follows Toledo Pattern

THE CITY of Philadelphia has embarked on an effort to prove that labor peace, like charity, begins at home. With the theory that each locality has its own labor problems, which can and should be solved locally, an effort is being made in that city which is expected to prevent labor disputes from developing into strikes.

Edgar L. Warren, director of the United States conciliation service, announces the organization of an assembly consisting of ten representatives of management and ten union leaders, with the addition of two lawyers for each group. Monthly meetings will be held where disputes will be threshed out, and unscheduled meetings will be called when the need arises. A similar plan has worked successfully in Toledo, and if Philadelphia can make it work, the idea will be tried out in other industrial centers.

A small group of reasonable men, working toward amicable relations in industry, sounds more effective for the mutual good of labor and management than most other plans.

South America is learning United States ways. Word comes that a candidate for president of Uruguay promised voters a super highway between Montevideo and Colonia, which would run downhill both ways—and thus save gas.

NOBODY HERE BUT US CHICKENS, BOSS.

Pearson Says Bricker's Gridiron Club 'Harangue' Killed Chances

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Republican candidates who attended the Gridiron club dinner—and most of them were there—were unhappy about only one thing. They wished that Senator-elect John W. Bricker's speech could have been broadcast to the nation instead of being delivered, off-the-record, to select dinner guests who weren't supposed to mention it above a whisper.

For if the general public had heard the new senator from Ohio, his chances for the GOP nomination would have pretty much gone up in smoke.

Bricker talked for 22 explosive minutes—longer than any other guest. If he had sat down after six minutes, he would have been a success. But he went on to deliver a stump speech before one of the most sophisticated audiences in the world—ambassadors, cabinet members, senators, newsmen, and rival GOP candidates. He harangued them as if he were addressing a jury rather than speaking to the judge.

Furthermore, he made the mistake of insulting the president of the United States to his face. That is something never done at a Gridiron dinner. The president is twitted and jibed, but no one ever hits him below the belt.

Truman Replies.

When Truman finally got a chance to hit back, there were smiles on Democratic faces for the first time since Nov. 5. He did a beautiful job. Either the president is better at extemporaneous speaking than at formal speaking, or else he had had an advance peek at Bricker's manuscript.

At any rate, without any sign of irritation, he gently threw Bricker's barbs back. Referring to the Ohio ex-governor's sarcastic promises to investigate everything connected with the Truman administration, the president said:

"I want to advise my friend from Ohio that I know something about investigating myself."

Then he went on, tongue-in-cheek, to suggest that the Republicans should investigate every Democratic senator elected in November, since according to the GOP view, they could not possibly have been elected without some irregularity.

Truman also said he had tried to seek the advice of Republican leaders.

"But," he added, with a helpless look around the room at the variegated array of rivals, including Senators Taft, White and Vandenberg, Joe Martin, Governor Dewey, Senator-elect Bricker and Minnesota's ex-Governor Stassen, "there are so many leaders."

In serious vein, Truman outlined a six-point program for the Republican congress—including cutting the budget, reduction of taxes, curtailing the national debt, amalgamation of the army and navy—and challenged the Republicans to help him put them across.

Perhaps his neatest barb was aimed at Rhodes scholar Senator Fulbright of Arkansas who proposed that the president resign and let the Republicans take over full reign for the next two years. Without mentioning Fulbright's name, he turned to the British ambassador and said:

"I've come to the conclusion, Mr. Ambassador, that it's a mistake to send our young men to Oxford to study. A land college in Ohio is much better."

Merry-Go-Round.

Truman laughed good-naturedly at the skits aimed against his administration. The scene in which the Democratic high command was at sea in a storm listening to the president play the piano off-key seemed to tickle him immensely. Whenever the piano-player struck a sour note, he roared . . . Another who enjoyed the dinner was Tom Dewey. Last year Dewey made an excellent speech. This year he sat back and heard his old vice presidential running-mate, whom he has never liked, make a terrible speech . . . One thing in Bricker's speech which struck the sourest note was his ridicule of Republican-Democratic co-operation. At a time when the nation faces continued domestic crisis, Bricker, in mean and nasty mood, brazenly threw cooperation out the window.

Ohio Bows to Indiana.

Contrary to earlier reports, there will be no dog-fight over the majority leadership of the house when the next congress convenes in January.

Republican Representative Charles Halleck of Indiana will be elected without opposition.

Strong pressure from Republican colleagues has been exerted on Representative Clarence Brown of Ohio, Halleck's leading opponent for the majority leader post, to retire from the race rather than risk a bitter fight and possible rift in house GOP ranks.

These Republicans also have made it clear to Congressman Brown that Ohio, in Bob Taft, already has the No. 1 Republican in the senate, and that it would look as if Ohio Republicans were trying to grab too much power in congress with Brown gunning for the No. 2 spot in the house, the majority leadership.

Capital Chaff.

The coal strike may seriously affect next year's potato and apple crops, according to the department of agriculture. The trouble is that the shortage of coal has curtailed supplies of insecticides, which are needed to fight such crop pests as the chinch bug, the European corn borer, the coddling moth, and the potato bug . . . One reason for veterans housing slowness has just been uncovered by hard-working Representative Robertson of North Dakota. He is making a sweeping investigation of the hoarding of scarce building materials on the west coast, especially the big lumber interests.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

THE UAW-CIO has been urged to study plans for a third political party. . . . I hear both Democrats and Republicans are willing to contribute candidates.

Both parties have been so infiltrated for years by men who are neither, that they couldn't possibly get a more attractive offer. Here's to '48 and three tickets on the ballots and not a coattail to cling to.

* * *

What I wonder is how some of these guys who can't live together in two parties will live together in a third.

But mine not to reason why, mine but to say "go to it fellows. . . . It's a job that's needed doing for years."

You form the third party and the voters will have the clearest set of issues and candidates they've had in a long time. . . . Imagine Democrats who are Democrats, Republicans who are Republicans, and a third party! This is the glorious post-war world they told us about.

Timely Editorial

Sapulpa Solves a Problem.

When pupils of the Sapulpa, Okla., high school took the refusal of an extended Christmas vacation into their own hands and walked out, their parents took a hand and walked them right back in.

Maybe the Sapula parents don't know about modern youth training methods. Perhaps they are ignorant of the up-to-date theory that frustration is bad for children, that pupils should be allowed to do just about anything they please short of setting fire to the schoolhouse.

At any rate, they seem to still have the old-fashioned, ridiculous idea that schools are meant to educate youth to be good citizens. Furthermore, they seem to retain the equally ancient and silly belief that the school's problems are the parents' problems, too.

In publishing its methods to the country, Sapulpa may be a pioneer in reviving a few gone but not forgotten standards of education.—Toledo Blade.

Where Truth Is Really "Crushed to Earth."

WASHINGTON—"Do you swear that the testimony you are about to give . . . is the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth?"

"I do," said every witness who has appeared before the senate inquiry into the war contract dealings of Senator Theodore G. Bilbo.

And now the committee conducting those hearings has sicked the justice department onto one witness with a perjury charge.

Which becomes the biggest laugh in Washington today:

It is not a question of whether the witness—Edward P. Terry, former secretary to the Mississippi senior senator—is or is not guilty of perjury.

It is simply this:

If failing to keep the aforementioned oath, with all its terms, constitutes perjury, then it is extremely doubtful if there are five people who have not perjured themselves during the Bilbo hearings.

Senator Ferguson, the Michigan Republican who has ramrodded most of the probe, said angrily at the time: "This is not the only man who has committed perjury in this hearing. . . . "

Which was a masterpiece of understatement.

Even to cynical newsmen, the carelessness with which truth has been treated throughout the Bilbo hearings has become sickening.

War contractors, politicians and penny-ante business and professional men have glibly although unofficially admitted their lies (there is no other word) to reporters and idle spectators outside the caucus-room doors.

Moreover, they usually do it lightly—with a laugh. . . .

If you are doubtful, consider the case of the clergyman who testified on one day that he knew "nothing about that . . . nothing about that" when queried concerning a former pastor's wife and the senator. He added that he never had "heard anyone say anything against" the senator.

But next day, the preacher testified that he personally had even passed along rumors of an alleged affair between Bilbo and the wife of the former pastor at the Juniper Grove church. . . .

Do you need more evidence? It's easy to give, providing it's unofficial, of course—for the boys weren't born yesterday.

On the stand, one contractor swore solemnly that the senator never had asked him for a single dollar or donation. But riding down the same elevator with me a few hours later, he laughed ruefully to his friends and said:

"Migod, the guy dogs you to death for dough, and then makes you come up here and stick your neck out to testify that he never asked for a cent!"

You think that was unusual, or unlikely? Hah! As the penny-phrase put it, E Pluribus Unum. He was one out of many who took the same light, querulous attitude about the whole proceedings.

Public servants, politicians, private employes or millionaire contractors, they took the same point of view. And the point is that they seemed to hold that the whole thing was highly humorous.

To them, it didn't appear to be important at all—unless they got caught in their own testimony, as the luckless preacher did.

Instead, it appeared to be a good game, in which the oath they had taken was merely one of the idle rules—to be considered seriously if they got caught in a cramp, but not to be noticed otherwise.

Everywhere you turned, you heard the same thing, if you want to consider it in terms of the oath they all had taken.

Some told the truth and nothing but the truth. But they didn't bother to tell the whole truth. They forgot, when convenient.

Some told the whole truth, but didn't confine themselves to the truth. They were quite willing to tell other stories which they knew were not true, but, they were convenient.

And there were many who (quite unofficially, of course), (quite unofficially, of course), even told the basic truth.

And they seemed to consider the whole thing a good joke.

So, if the justice department really wants to probe the practice of perjury, the Bilbo hearings should furnish a field day.

Little Encouragement In New Housing Plans.

WASHINGTON—The new Truman administration housing program has a nice facade, like the "GI Dream House" that politicians and real-estate interests once dangled before the returning veteran.

But, like that fantasy, it seems to have little back of it, at least for the veteran.

The new program, as enunciated in a statement by President Truman, lifted quite a few texts—and without credit—from Wilson Wyatt, former housing expediter.

That was easy. For Mr. Wyatt's final challenging report to the president was suppressed by the White House. It offered means to carry out the texts. The new program is somewhat shy there.

Mr. Wyatt was stumped, and finally quit because of certain attitudes, both of private real-estate interests and of certain men in government. The attitudes are still there. The men are still in government in charge of the program.

Mr. Wyatt never suffered from the illusion of the "Dream House," nor did many if any of the veterans. What they wanted, and he realized it, was a nice, comfortable place to live at a price they could afford.

The range of most of them embraced an apartment at moderate rent, or a prefabricated house which could be built cheaply. Mr. Wyatt placed much emphasis on these two phases of the program.

But George Allen of the RFC raised a cold hand against loans for prefabricated houses in any broad program. The FHA, under Raymond Foley, new head of the National Housing Administration, was reluctant to liberalize FHA lending policies for large-scale rental projects. Nor has Frank Creedon, new housing expediter, shown too keen interest in a large-scale program such as Mr. Wyatt envisioned as essential to meet this biggest postwar problem.

The New Truman program emphasized the need of rental units, with some liberalization suggested. Mr. Wyatt, in his final suppressed report, offered a concrete program, which is interesting.

This was for 100 per cent financing by the government through FHA insurance on first mortgages which, under the law, is permitted up to 90 per cent, with the RFC taking a second mortgage at four per cent to run the same period. In urging this, he said in his report:

"The 100 per cent financing of rental units is made necessary by the fact that, with decontrol the uncertainty of prices—serious even during the period of price controls—will frighten prospective investors and builders away from widespread rental construction. To date the incentives for private rental construction have not been great enough to obtain more than a fraction of the volume that is required."

Previous liberalization of the rent formula on new construction, he said, had been "wholly insufficient."

One general statement he made in his report is worth quoting:

"The nation took the veteran from his home to serve his country during the war. He has returned to find the existing homes occupied by those who remained behind. The nation has an obligation to see that the men it took from their homes are returned to a home. Anything less would be imposing a penalty on patriotism."

Nathan's Theory Clashes With Experience.

WASHINGTON — The propagandists in the battle of profits vs. wages are setting off their big guns. This controversy does at least one thing. It makes us all look a little closer at the roots of the system in which we live.

The present battle started with the "analysis" prepared for the CIO by Robert R. Nathan Associates, Inc. In a carefully staged presentation, Nathan announced his conclusion that a 23 per cent increase is necessary to "bring real weekly earnings back to the January, 1945, level."

His report was in many ways an over-simplification. It assumed that the money which goes into profits passes out of the main stream of buying and spending. Taking his theory literally, you have to believe that only through wages are purchasing power and jobs created.

But the flaw in the Nathan theory is in the base on which he builds.

He says that a 23 per cent increase in wages is possible without a rise in prices. Theoretically that may be possible. Perhaps it can be demonstrated by statistics and on charts.

Theory, however, is one thing and what is happening all around us today is quite another thing. A little background points up what this contrast between virtuous theory and greedy practice really means.

Nathan was one of the government economists who helped to persuade the president that industry could give an 18 per cent pay rise without seriously affecting the level of prices. His theory then—as a deputy director of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion—was the same as that expressed in his CIO analysis. Profits, so the theory goes, have gone up much more than wages and therefore business can cut off a wedge of the profit pie and share it with the wage earner at no cost to the consumer.

But in practice, after the 18 per cent wage boost, the opposite happened. Prices began to soar. Nathan's figures show that while the cost of living went up only 3.6 per cent from January, 1945, to May, 1946, the increase by the end of this year will probably be 20 per cent.

Even before price controls were removed, the bulge in the price level was pretty prominent. Whether rightly or wrongly, in accord with the wage-profit theory business was passing along the cost of the wage increase.

Today we have no price controls at all. Why Nathan and his clients in the CIO think prices will be held down after a second round of wage increases, is hard to see. Self-restraint is not enough.

We need a lot more planning by government to keep the proper ratio between wages and profits in accord with the Nathan theory. The verdict on November 5 was for a lot less planning. That is a political fact as big and as solid as Nathan's economic facts.

The controls are going even before the Republican congress comes in. Over the last week-end, Mr. Truman threw out just about all that was left of the controlled housing program. The attitude of the men around the president is to move quickly and beat the Republicans to it.

The CIO today does not have the political power to compel industry to give over a share of profits to the worker. They can close industry down. But that might very well be disastrous for the entire economy, including the members of the unions.

Reports from the country indicate that a wage increase of 12 or 13 per cent will be possible with only a minor struggle and without very much influence on prices. If the policy-makers in CIO are sensible, they will accept that compromise.

Farmer's Diary: "From Forestry Report."

CAN you afford not to have a woods? asks the Ohio Forestry Bulletin. Time was when every farm had a woods. According to foresters at the Agricultural Experiment Station, too many are finding themselves in the position a Richland county farmer held a couple of years ago.

This man inherited a good farm from his grandfather. A new barn had been built on it in 1942, using timbers from the farm woodland which the grandfather had always maintained for building repairs and occasional timber sales.

In 1944 a farm forester from the division of forestry cruised the woodland and marked trees that needed removal by reason of maturity and defects. He left unmarked about 50 younger trees, which were sound and could have been marketed, as a reserve against future building requirements.

When the owner sold the marked trees, he also sold the 50-tree reserve timber stock. Shortly after the buyer had completed his "clear-cut" harvest, the barn burned to the ground. The blame was placed on faulty wiring, but that didn't replace the barn.

The fact remained, the farmer was without a barn in the dead of winter, his timber had been sold, lumber was high in price, and almost impossible to find at any price.

This little incident serves to illustrate the value of a woodland on every farm. For fire insurance, windbreak, building repair or one of the many other advantages, the little that it costs to start and protect a farm woods will repay any farmer handsomely.

THE proposed conservation bill which is sponsored by the Ohio Postwar Program Commission is an important bill. It provides for the establishment of a unified state conservation department with seven divisions, namely—water, lands, beach erosion, geological survey, forestry, wild life, and parks.

Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, engineer and educator of national standing, was induced to act as chairman of the committee to draft this bill, and 26 men and women representing all walks of life, were named to serve with him. The members of this group brought clashing interests and conflicting opinions and the bill is presented as finally amended and approved by the commission. It is subject to change. The legislature may further amend it. The commission solicits and welcomes suggestions. Printed copies of the bill are available to individuals and groups who request them.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Dec. 20.

With a well-established trend toward building up an enduring and dependable future, with well-built foundations for cherished hopes and wishes, there is shown a disposition to relax and seek diversion or enjoyment in pathways of pleasure of a less arduous and taxing character. Romance, social, domestic and cultural lures are urgent and justifiable. These may prove assets of personality gains, but not to the point of reaction from long-range benefits and sound objectives

Those whose birthday it is finding themselves rather safely established on the road to solid security and comfort for the future, may be inclined to seek relaxation or diversion in finer or more emotional engagements, of social, domestic, or cultural life, although financial and fertile fields for enlarging and enjoying such higher patterns of life should not be overlooked or neglected. Charm, beauty and magnetism may be enhanced and the personality prove an esset to be discreetly utilized for promoting success and happiness.

A child born on this day may possess many talents and aspirations of a cultural order, ensuring a prosperous and happy life. Its personal charm and magnetism may prove a realistic asset.

For Saturday, December 21

Some brilliant idea or inspiration or possibly sudden good news of unusual significance, may spur the energies to concentrated endeavors to take advantage of the surprising turn of events While the basic urge may be sound and well fortified by events, yet there may be a singular twist of a confusing or bewildering nature It may be well to weigh all factors before making snap decisions or taking action. Careful analysis and reflection may pay surprising dividends.

Those whose birthday it is are justified in anticipating a year of intriguing, singular or bewildering denouement, in which sudden news, strange contacts or adventure, may incite to a concentration of the energies and faculties in bringing about worthwhile and enduring benefits. However, the judgment is complicated and obscure, so it might be advisable to analyze cautiously all underlying factors before taking action. Be sure the ways and means are based on sound tactics before tackling critical problems. Many benefits are at stake.

A child born on this day has excellent mentality, with a shrewd and astute grasp of critical elements, but sound principle should be the deciding factor in solving dilemmas.

Paris Goes on Trial Today

NEW YORK —(INS)— Alvin J. Paris, Broadway gambler, was scheduled to go on trial at 10:30 a. m. today charged with bribery in an attempt to "fix" the championship professional football game between the N. Y. Giants and the Chicago Bears.

District Attorney Frank S Hogan refused to explain the unusual speed in bringing Paris to trial. His move surprised Defense Attorney Caesar B. F. Barra who said he would ask for an adjournment "and get it." He added: "We haven't even had time to study the indictment."

The indictment charges that Paris approached Merle Hapes and Frank Filchock, Giant backfield stars and offered them $3,500 each to "throw" the game to the Bears. The Bears won the game 24-14 with Filchock throwing the two touchdown passes giving the Giants their only touchdowns.

State Baseballers Get Southern Trip

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Baseball was placed back on a pre-war footing at Ohio State today with approval by the athletic board of a spring training trip to the south.

Trips were taken each year before the war, usually into Virginia and Maryland. Next spring the Buck nine will head for Texas.

New Novel Portrays Christ Through Eyes of Associates

BARABBAS, by Emery Bekessy, a novel of Jerusalem at the time of the Crucifixion, is one of the 20 new books to be placed on display Saturday at the Mansfield Public library They will go into circulation Monday.

In Bekessy's book, Jesus is portrayed chiefly as He is mirrored in the minds of the people around him: as He looked to the bandit, Barabbas; to the haughty Pilate; to the scholarly Joseph of Arimathea, and to the lesser folk The subjective approach, the social content and skepticism that resists the disciples all add up to a worthwhile and well-written picture of the times.

THE RISE OF HENRY MORCAR, by Phyllis Bentley, is the story of a textile manufacturer in Yorkshire. His rise to power in the industrial world from 1890-1945 parallels the experiences of England during those history-making years. Henry Morcar, spends the years of the second war in tireless effort, and, in spite of personal tragedy leaves him firmly dedicated to the rebuilding of England.

THIS IS GOODBYE, by Betty Baur, is an accurate and comprehensive document of the times through which we have just lived. Particularly it is the story of three girls, Catharine, Marta and Pee-Wee, who work in a great airplane plant.

Other fiction: BRIGHT SKIES, Loring; YOUNG CLAUDIA, Franken; PUNCH WITH CARE, Taylor; PICK YOUR VICTIM, McGerr; PRIVATE ANGELO, Linklater.

OUR SHARE OF NIGHT, by Drew Middleton, is a reporter's account of six years of war as he saw it. It's not so much a report of war as of people in a war-torn world. This noted New York Times correspondent sums up the war years with a sober plea for one world, or none.

RAFFLES OF SINGAPORE is a fascinating biography by Emily Hahn. She has made the warmly human tale of his career into a swift narrative of adventure. In so doing, she also presents a revealing picture of the operations of the old East India Company and a continually engrossing commentary on British Colonial policy in the Orient.

GEOGRAPHY FOR GROWN-UPS, by H. A. Calahan, is the work of a practical navigator. It goes far beyond the usual scope of classroom gloves and atlases by furnishing an interpretative background. The author has tried to fill in a gap in the education of most well-educated people. It looks, also, toward the future, examines the impending utilization of the Arctic, and explores possible geographic changes in the coming era of atomic power.

Other non-fiction includes:

WHERE THE PEOPLE SING, Zimmerman AMERICA PRAYS, Nygaard; JOB PLACEMENT OF PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED, Bridges FOOD BUYER'S INFORMATION, Todoroff ILLUSTRATED AVIATION DICTIONARY, Jordanoff HOUSE IN BALI, McPhee; GREAT PACIFIC VICTORY, Cant; OIL BURNER GUIDE, Audel; ALMS FOR OBLIVION, Carver.

Rapid Bob Feller Now a Corporation

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Rapid Robert Feller had himself a corporation today.

The Cleveland Indians' fireball ace, who sponsors such varied activities as barnstorming trips, baseball schools and airplane-school promotions, announced he had formed a corporation to consolidate his numerous activities under one roof.

Syracuse university's boxing team, preparing for the invitation meet with North Carolina at the Sugar Bowl games, includes four pre-war intercollegiate champions.

FARMER BROWN'S BOY GOES BACK

No one knows better than does Farmer Brown's boy what bad winter weather means to the furred and feathered folk of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. Of course those in the long sleep called hibernation know nothing about it. Some, like Danny Meadow Mouse, Jerry Muskrat and Paddy the Beaver, have food where they can get it without exposure, do not mind snow and ice and bitter cold. But to many who must hunt for their daily food, especially the feathered folk who will starve to death quickly if they cannot get food and plenty of it every day, such weather means suffering from hunger and the fear that always is part of the feeling of helplessness.

So for his feathered friends Farmer Brown's boy keeps feeding stations near the house, one a shelf at a kitchen window, supplied with seeds, crumbs, suet, chopped nuts. Birds of many kinds are daily visitors, grateful for the help thus given when food is scarce and hard to find. Of his friends who do not like to leave the Green Forest he is no less thoughtful. Over there he had built a couple of brush shelters to keep the grain he spreads there from being covered with snow. When snow is driven in he clears it out so that Thunderer the Ruffed Grouse and the members of his family may always find food in time of need.

It was such a time now, with deep snow covered with a thick icy crust. On his way to one of these shelters to leave a supply of grain he had heard a faint tapping, had broken the crust to release two Grouse who had gone down into the snow late the previous afternoon to spend the night and had been made prisoners by the forming of the icy crust. Now, having left food at the shelter, he was headed for home with the comfortable feeling that he had done a good deed.

"Those were young Grouse," thought he. "This is their first winter and they are lucky I happened over here when I did. In another day they would have been dead. I guess they never will be caught that way again. Experience is a hard teacher but a thorough one. It probably will be a long time before they will dare go down in snow again to sleep. I hope no other Grouse are caught that way."

He stopped abruptly. That last thought had reminded him of something. All through the fall he had kept track of the Grouse in that part of the Green Forest. Thunderer and Mrs. Grouse had lived there for several years and had nested there each year. Sometimes their children who had lived to grow up had spent their first winter with them, or at least in the neighborhood. This year he had frequently found four young Grouse in that part of the Green Forest. It was two of these that he had just saved. Just before he had found them he had seen his two old friends, Thunderer and his mate, so he knew that they were safe. But what about the two other young Grouse?

Hesitatingly he stood looking back, uncertain what to do. "I didn't hear but those two trying to peck their way out through the crust. If the others were there it seems as if I would have heard them. Perhaps, like their parents, they were wise enough not to go down in the snow and are around somewhere. And, of course, something may have happened to them since I was over here last. If not, they probably are all right," thought he, and again started for home.

But he didn't go far before changing his mind and heading back for the place where he had freed the young Grouse. He wondered if Reddy Fox was still in the vicinity. He doubted it. He knew that Reddy had seen those birds set free. He knew that Reddy must be finding it hard to get enough to eat and would not waste time where his possible dinner had flown away. When he came in sight of the place where the Grouse had been prisoners and caught a glimpse of red he knew that Reddy was still there. What did that mean?

BLAZE DESTROYS GRAIN ELEVATOR

MINNEAPOLIS —(AP)—A spectacular fire, with flames shooting more than 150 feet into the air and visible for several miles, destroyed the Union Elevator filled with nearly 3,000,000 bushels of grain today. Early reports were that the elevator was filled with barley and at current market prices the loss was expected to run into more than $3,000,000.

A general alarm was sounded when the fire broke out after midnight and firemen from neighboring St. Paul were sent to man stations in the early morning hours as most of the city's fire equipment was sent to fight the conflagration in the 80-foot tall, two-block long structure.

The fire was brought under control after about four hours although it was expected to burn for several days.

Lewis In Middle as Split Ends Coal Operator Talks

MINE OWNERS DISAGREE ON NEGOTIATIONS

Southerners Unwilling to Confer With Union Boss About New Contract.

WASHINGTON—(UP)—John L. Lewis was caught in the middle today as southern soft coal operators refused to join northerners in offering to negotiate a new contract with Lewis' United Mine Workers.

Already in a bitter court battle with the government, Lewis was facing another fight to salvage his long-sought industry-wide wage agreement with the bituminous industry.

The northern and midwestern operators said they were ready and willing to negotiate immediately. The southern and far western operators said, "not yet."

The last convention of Lewis' United Mine Workers (AFL) committed him to fight for the industrywide contract which he won for the first time in 1945. He now must devise strategy to try to win it again.

Split Reappears.

The long-standing split between the northern and southern operator groups reappeared last night after the operators' national wage negotiating committee had been conferring privately for nearly eight hours.

The committee could not agree on the northern-sponsored move to announce willingness to reopen negotiations with Lewis immediately.

Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the northern Appalachian operators, announced that the northern and midwestern groups wanted to reaffirm their willingness to resume negotiations.

Henry Warden, representing the southern Appalachian operators, said his group was willing to negotiate but did not think the operators should initiate moves now. He explained that this position was based on Lewis' own attitude and on "other very important considerations which are of major import to the entire country."

Warden said these considerations included proposals for labor legislation and the government's court contest with the UMW. Lewis and the UMW were convicted of contempt of court Dec. 4 and fined $3,510,000 for defying a court order to cancel a strike signal.

The rift in the operators' committee caused it to adjourn sine die. It cannot be reassembled without the consent of all its five component parts. Those parts are the northern and southern Appalachian groups, the midwestern group, the far western group, the strip operators and the "captive" mines owned by steel firms.

ATTLEE MOVE RAISES ANGER OF CHURCHILL

Laborites Bringing End To Empire, Says War Leader.

LONDON — (UP) — Prime Minister Clement Attlee announced today that Britain was ready to give Burma her independence, drawing an angry blast by Winston Churchill against carving any such slice out of the British empire.

Churchill's oratory was at its best as he charged that the labor government "has in fact shorn Burma from the British crown" in the "process of the decline and fall of the British empire."

Attlee told commons that the first step toward giving Burma independence "within or without the commonwealth" would be taken soon. Burmese leaders will be invited to London to discuss self-government for the colonial realm flanking India, he said.

* * *

Churchill Hits Haste.

Red-faced and irate, Churchill lashed back at the labor government's "extraordinary haste" to get out of Burma so soon after the enormous sacrifices of British and Indian blood to liberate Burma from the Japanese.

Churchill tore into the government for what he called its mistakes in India and now the prospects in Burma so violently that the speaker broke in to remind that since a motion was before the house, he was out of order.

He subsided temporarily, only to renew the attack a little later when parliament procedure permitted. His attack was based on the principle he enunciated while he was Britain's wartime leader, that he had not become the king's first minister to preside over the dissolution of the British empire.

Attlee said it was the government's desire that the Burmese people "attain their self government by the quickest and most convenient path possible."

"We do not desire to retain within the commonwealth and empire any unwilling peoples," he said. "It is for the people of Burma to decide their own future, and we are certain that it will be to their own interest, as it will be to ours, if they decide to remain within the commonwealth, and we sincerely hope they will arrive at such a decision."

STORES ADOPT 9 P. M. CLOSING HOUR TONIGHT

Mansfield's record Christmas-shopping year swings into its grand climax tonight.

Most of the city's retail stores adopt a "shop-at-night" schedule.

Starting tonight, they will remain open until 9 p. m. The late closing hour also will prevail Saturday and Monday but on Tuesday the stores will revert to the regular 5:30 p. m. lock-up hour to permit their employes to spend Christmas eve at home.

Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford announced a special schedule for Saturday. He said windows at the post office would oberve these hours on the last Saturday before Christmas:

Parcel post, general delivery and stamp windows—7 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Registry—8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Postal savings and money orders—8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Mail cancellations dropped off somewhat yesterday. In contrast to the total of 176,400 on Wednesday, when the greatest number of cancellations in history were recorded, cancellations Wednesday were 169,700. Greeting cards accounted for most of the cancellations.

"There is still no real Christmas rush on parcel post," Ford said. "Early in the morning we get a fairly large crowd. From then on a few seem to come in with every bus that comes by, but that is about all. Perhaps the rush is coming this week end. I am still wondering what happened to it."

Although most stores have reported an accelerated pace in shopping over last year, shelves are still bulging with one of the largest stocks of recent years.

Heaviest runs of the season's shopping has been on toys and men's and women's ready-to-wear, merchants said. Visiting "Santas" in some of the department stores have drawn unusually large crowds of children and adults and scarce items such as nylons, shirts and linens have been snatched up in increasing quantities.

TRAPPED IN MACHINE

AKRON —(AP)— Trapped in a clay-mixing machine at the U. S. Stoneware Co., plant at nearby Tallmadge, Peter Pulich, 55, was killed yesterday when another worker unknowingly put the machine in operation.

Prices Drop 25 Per Cent On Yule Trees

Prices on yule trees were slashed an average of 25 per cent today as tree lot owners found themselves with an oversupply and increased competition from more retailers.

Florists, who regularly handle Christmas trees, said that the regular $4 trees are often sold at from 50 to 75 cents lower than quoted prices.

A Christmas tree lot operator said that everyone "who comes in the lot goes out with a tree."

This year saw more street corners and empty lots in the downtown district loaded with yule trees than in any previous year.

SCHOOL STAFF SHIFTS MADE

Glenn Robinson, principal of Hedges school, will become Mansfield school business manager Jan. 1, succeeding J. B. Moke who will become on-the-job training co-ordinator in the Senior high vocational department, Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller announced today.

Moke has been business manager and superintendent of buildings since 1922. He will work with V. H. Oberlander in handling war vets' training classes at Senior high, Supt. Miller said.

Replacing Robinson at the Hedges school will be Miss Irma Manitzer, a teacher, who will become principal in charge until the end of the year.

Robinson formerly was principal at the West Fifth street school.

Which Party Owns Ike Is Dark Secret

ABILENE, Kansas—(INS)—An interesting and intriguing political mystery revolves today around the question: is General Dwight D. Eisenhower a Democrat or a Republican? It's even a mystery in his own home town.

There is no record in "Ike's" home state of Kansas that conclusively proves his political affiliation.

The question assumes growing importance in view of reports that certain elements in both Democratic and Republican parties are talking up Eisenhower as a candidate for the presidency in 1948.

General Eisenhower himself has repeatedly declared he has no political aspirations.

Efforts of a correspondent to solve the question, "is Eisenhower a Democrat or a Republican?" led to a blank wall on his home grounds.

There is absolutely no evidence that Eisenhower ever registered as either a Democrat or a Republican while a resident of Abilene, Kansas.

85 PASSENGERS ALIVE AFTER PLANES CRASH

ABERDEEN, Md. — (AP) — Split-second reactions by two pilots were credited today with saving the lives of 85 passengers and crew members of two Miami-bound airliners which collided 2,000 feet in the air near here in an accident unprecedented in American commercial air travel.

None of the passengers suffered so much as a scratch, although both planes were damaged in the collision, which occurred in clear weather shortly after dark last night.

The co-pilot of one, a big, four-engined DC-4 Eastern Airlines craft carrying 56 passengers, said he saw the other, a two-engined Universal Airlines C-47, approaching from the left three or four miles north of Aberdeen. He pulled his ship up at the last instant and scraped over the top of the Universal plane, Eastern officials said.

The co-pilot, R. Brown of Miami, said he had "just a second or two" in which to avert disaster. The pilot of this plane, J. P. Kuhn, also of Miami, told a reporter, "Brown saved the day."

A three-by-five-foot hole was ripped in the tail section by the larger plane, while the Universal liner, carrying 22 passengers and a crew of three in a charter flight, had a hole driven into the upper portion of the fuselage, its escape hatch wrenched free and its radio and hydraulic system knocked out of commission.

Despite the damage, Henry Norris of Cambridge, Mass., pilot of the Universal ship, brought it down safely at the Aberdeen proving ground field, while the Eastern plane was landed uneventfully by Kuhn before waiting crash-wagons and fire-engines at National airport, Washington, D. C.

The four-engined DC-4, cruising at about 230 miles an hour, apparently had overtaken the slower aircraft. It had started from New York, while the Universal plane had taken off at Newark, N. J.

CIO SEEKS TO HOLD STEEL CONTRACTS

MILWAUKEE — (INS) — R. J. Thomas of Detroit, high-ranking CIO union official, today awaited a reply to his offer to return 10,000 striking Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company workers to their jobs if a presidential fact-finding board is appointed.

Thomas, international vice-president of the United Automobile Workers, who has been directing the 236-day-old strike at the West Allis, Wis., farm equipment plant, made his proposition to labor conciliators last night.

He said it was conditional on the Allis-Chalmers company joining with the union in asking President Truman to appoint a presidential panel to study issues in the dispute.

Army Court Critic Defends Soldier

FRANKFURT — (UP) — Earl J. Carroll of San Francisco, former U. S. Army officer and critic of the court martial system, prepared today to defend Pfc. Daniel P. Walczak, Detroit, Mich., against charges of murdering a German girl near Frankfurt last April.

Carroll tried unsuccessfully yesterday to disqualify all eight members of the court martial. He charged that Walczak and three other defendants were held for months in a Frankfurt military stockade without charges being filed against them and that they did not have access to legal advice.

Hawley to Leave Post With Election Board

Thirty-five political job seekers received the endorsement of the Richland county Republican executive committee last night, marking a major step in their bids for posts under the new state administration which will take office Jan. 1.

Made possible by the Republican landslide at the polls Nov. 5, the endorsements were largely for political jobs in the city and county, the committee leaving until a later date its recommendations on candidates for state and district jobs.

Ralph M. Hardy, chairman of the executive committee, announced the endorsements and revealed at the same time that Harry E. Hawley, clerk of the county board of elections, announced at the meeting his intention to resign the county.

Hawley confirmed the announcement but had nothing to say about his future plans.

However, he is a candidate for the post of liquor director in the cabinet of Gov.-Elect Thomas J. Herbert.

On that subject he said:

"I have done nothing for it but many of my friends tell me they're supporting me for the position."

* * *

Submits Resignation.

The board of elections was meeting this afternoon and Hawley said he would submit his resignation as the board's clerk at that time.

Among the 35 endorsements, for which there were some 50 candidates, were those of three other Republicans currently holding official positions. They seek other jobs. The committee endorsed candidates for two of the positions.

One of the stiffest rivalries for the committee's favor was between five persons for the superintendency of the state highway department in Richland county.

Swanger Endorsed.

Mayor Glenn Swanger of Shiloh won the endorsement and his chief contender, Charles H. Hebel, Mansfield street superintendent, was recommended for the assistant's post.

The committee did not endorse anyone for Hebel's city street superintendency. Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said Hebel is subject to compulsory retirement July 1 and that E. W. Davis, an assistant in the street department now, is scheduled to assume the superintendency when, and if, Hebel leaves.

For Hawley's position as clerk of the board of elections the committee endorsed Thomas Zeigler, former mayor of Bellville. Zeigler has helped the board during recent elections.

Jay C. Edwards, an employe in Mansfield's garbage department, was approved as superintendent of the department, and the present chief, Al Strachan, was listed among seven "special endorsements for any other available and suitable" state jobs in the future.

Mayor Vaughn, who appoints the superintendent, said that Strachan is "not being let out" by the committee's action in endorsing Edwards for his job.

ROCKET SECRET LONG GUARDED

By JULIAN HARTT

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—American aviation—which this month heralded its so-called "first" piloted rocket plance flight—was disclosed today to have secretly flown a human-piloted rocket ship more than two years ago.

This correspondent has learned exclusively that on July 5, 1944, test pilot Harry Crosby successfully flew a Northrop "Flying Wing" rocket plane at the Muroc (Cal.) army air base.

It is further understood that the results of this and subsequent rocket flights by Crosby, plus related research, opened such an amazingly new concept of future flight that the army will keep its "top secret" lid securely bolted on Northrop's military research for some time to come.

The midget bat-wing fighting plane—designed to ram its way through enemy bombers, shearing off wings or tail sections—flew "on power" for approximately five minutes while 31 gallons of chemical fuel scorched through its 17-pound rocket motor.

Shortly after the secret flights, the rocket idea was abandoned and jet engines substituted because rocket motor builders in 1944 were unable to supply a more efficient fuel combination than the analine and nitric acid—under nitrogen pressure—then available.

Major studios said the sum, to be ready by the end of the month, is being paid under a retroactive contract with the AFL Screen Extras Guild to an as yet undetermined number of actors.

ROGER NOT 'LOSTED'; WANTED TO SEE SHOW

Six-year-old Roger Snyder insisted that he wasn't "losted." He just wanted to see the floor show.

Police picked up Roger at 1 a. m. today at the Greystone night club. He'd been away from his West Dickson avenue home since noon.

Club officials, who called police, said the little like knew where he was.

"He said he wanted to see the floor show," they told officers.

Roger, with his high-power curiosity curbed, was taken home to mother by two burly cops.

3 MURDERERS DIE IN NATIONAL CAPITAL TODAY

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Two murderers died in the electric chair today, but the execution of Joseph D. Medley was delayed while his attorney made frantic efforts to save his life.

WASHINGTON— (INS)—Joseph D. Medley, suave and slippery lifelong criminal, and two other condemned murderers were scheduled to die today in the District of Columbia electric chair.

Medley was convicted of the brutal slaying of Mrs. Nancy Boyer, an attractive, red-haired divorcee, whose body was found in her luxuriously-furnished Washington apartment on March 6, 1945.

The other men facing execution were Julius Fisher, a janitor found guilty of the murder of Miss Catherine C. Reardon, Washington Cathedral librarian, and William Copeland, who killed his sister-in-law, Mrs. Dora Johnson, during a family quarrel.

Lawyers for the doomed trio sought vainly up to the last minute for legal loopholes which might enable the men to cheat the chair.

James J. Laughlin, attorney for Medley, carried to the supreme court his fight for Medley's life but the high tribunal rejected the plea.

Similar rejections were meted out to the attorneys for Fisher and Copeland. All three cases had been before the supreme court twice previously.

All Remain Calm.

Jail officials said the three showed no signs of collapse as the hour of execution neared. All ordered the customary "last meal —of chicken and trimmings and all ate heartily.

Medley figured in a sensational break from the district jail last April.

With another inmate of death row, Earl McFarland, ex-Marine convicted of a sex murder, he pried an opening in the jail ventilating system with a can opener after overpowering guards.

Medley was captured seven hours later, cringing in a sewer outlet, but McFarland succeeded in hitch-hiking to his home town, Knoxville, Tenn., and was not seized until 10 days after the escape.

McFarland was electrocuted last summer.

Dies Laughing At His Own Joke

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(UP)—Seventy-three-year-old Loren Porter Michael literally died laughing at his own joke, doctors said today.

Michael told service station attendant Arnold Lucas he had taken his car from Chicago to Phoenix on one tank of gas, then explained he had it shipped by train. He laughed so hard at his joke he suffered a heart attack.

SNOW CREATES TRAFFIC HAZARD

Light snow which began falling before noon today raised Mansfielders' hopes of a white Christmas, but it also made driving slippery on city streets.

The weatherman, however, soon threw cold water on the white Christmas idea by predicting the snow would turn to rain by tonight or tomorrow.

With winter's second cold snap being pushed out of Ohio by a mass of warm air from the gulf stream, light rain was the forecast for tomorrow.

Yesterday's cold, which brought a low of seven degrees above zero at Hayesville, was nearly forgotten today as the mercury edged upward. The low this morning at Hayesville was 21, while the high was 28.

SWIM SUITS TO GET POLAR WATER TEST

ABOARD BYRD SOUTH POLE EXPEDITION FLAGSHIP AT SEA —(INS)— Rubberized "swim suits" which, it is expected, may someday save the lives of thousands exposed to freezing polar waters will be tested as a vital experiment of the Antarctic "Operation Highjump" mission.

Fifty-one rugged American physical specimens are aboard this flagship today ready to begin the tests when the expedition reaches its goal at Little America.

The group is headed by Lieut. Halvor Iverson of Savannah, Ga., commander of the navy's underwater demolition team number four.

FORGERS CAUGHT

VIENNA—(UP)—One Italian and one Hungarian were under arrest today in connection with what public safety officials described as a "gigantic ring" of banknote forgers operating in the Russian zone of Vienna.

They've Got Nothing on Me,' Says Mississippi Senator.

WASHINGTON — (NS) — Sen. Theodore ("The Man") Bilbo (D) Miss., packed up today to be home by Christmas in his Dixie "dream house" while senate investigators drafted a contempt case against a former secretary who accused him of taking money on war contracts and a narcotics deal.

The senate war investigating committee recessed its Bilbo hearings until after Christmas with the undismayed defendant confident the evidence would not cost him his senate seat. He told International News Service:

"They've got nothing It was a complete waterhaul."

Against this was the committee's informal contention that Bilbo violated a 1940 statute outlawing a senator's solicitation or receipt of money or services from a contractor during the negotiating or performance of a federal contract.

Bilbo said he would leave Washington over the weekend for the Mississippi plantation where Christmas 1941 brought him a shiny new "gift" Cadillac from a war contractor friend, Mike T. Morrissey.

He explained:

"I opened 'dream house No. 1' in 1935 I've never missed Christmas in that house since. I'll be there!"

Counsel for the committee said a contempt citation against Edward P. Terry, Bilbo's ex-secretary, probably would be laid before the senate president pro tempore in "two or three days." They scheduled a conference today with Parliamentarian Charles Watkins on procedure

It was indicated the present plan was not to await the new congress meeting Jan. 3 but to seek prosecution of Terry in the district court at once A charge of perjury also was to be laid before the justice department

Bilbo, in day-long defense statement, branded Terry as a "Judas Iscariot" and a "modern Benedict Arnold." Terry, who was released from a Mississippi hospital several days ago, left the session staggering and near collapse

Amvet Has Glum View on Housing

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Allen Solada national director of Amvets, today expressed his feeling about the administration's new housing program with this advice to married veterans:

"Treat your mother-in-law well this Christmas, because you're going to be living with her for a long time."

Expert Wants Analysis Of Milk to Raise Cubs

By HAL BOYLE

CINCINNATI—(AP)—For three generations the Stephan family has been trying to hand-raise a captive-born polar bear cub—something never yet accomplished.

Their latest effort failed this week when "Bozo," one-pound offspring of the Cincinnati zoo's polar bear lady, "North Star," died of malnutrition three days after brth.

Sol Stephan, third in line in a famed midwest veterinarian family, kept a day and night vigil over "Bozo." Glumly he has decided there is only one way to solve the problem of bottle-feeding infant polar bears:

"We're just going to have to milk an adult female polar bear under ideal conditions. Then we can break down and analyze the milk and duplicate it."

Milking a full-grown lady polar bear, however, is what belling a cat is to mice. It's a good idea, but who wants to step forward to get the first pail? Polar bears—without regard to sex—are mean-tempered, vicious and can hit with either paw.

"If I could just knock out the mother with a drug like I use on lions and tigers," mused Stephan, "then I could get a sample of her milk.

"But you're fooling with a $500 animal, and it's a major operation to give one an anesthetic."

He believes polar bear milk is rich in fish proteins, but little "Bozo" couldn't make the grade on a substitute diet of homogenized cow's milk, cod liver oil and sugar.

Efforts Fail.

"I thought Bozo would make it. He had the will to live. He squawked like a couple of kittens. I fed him off my finger. He took it but it might as well have been water. He couldn't digest it. I pepped him up a little on the third day with some weak whisky, corn syrup and orange juice—but he died in six hours."

Stephan took the loss hard—the family has tried 40 times to save polar bear cubs—but his 98-year-old grandfather, Sol A. Stephan, who has been treating zoo animals for 62 years, looked at him with twinkling eyes and said:

"Well, son, just keep trying."

The Stephans have tried several incubators and innumerable diets, and they get letters from all parts of the nation suggesting new types of feeding.

"But we have two strikes on us before we start," said the youngest. "If the father bear is around at the time of birth, he just rushes over and gobbles up the Cubs. And the mother is usually so nervous and clumsy that she mauls or steps on the cubs, killing or injuring them before we can get them away from her."

Mothers Sensitive.

Female polar bears are very sensitive mothers. The Milwaukee zoo is the only one that has been able to build a deep retreating den appealing to these finicky madames of the frigid north. It also is the only zoo that has ever been able to persuade the mother to retire into a den and bring up the cubs she spawned in captivity.

Stephan right now is considerably annoyed at all polar bears.

"Very little is really known about them," he said. "No one, for example, really knows the normal body temperature of a polar. I'd give $500 to find out. They're so darn mean they break every thermometer you bring near them, and anyway they get excited and that shoots up the temperature."

Little "Bozo" registered 100 degrees, but he was hardly a normal polar bear

Chickens and ostriches have the highest body temperatures—106—and in case you've spent sleepless nights worrying about the heat level of other friends of field and forest here is how Stephan tabulates them:

"Elephants 99.8 degrees; tigers and lions, about the same as a cat—101.5 to 102; hyenas and wolves, just about like the dog—101. And reptiles vary with the temperature of their surroundings."

Go Easy on Anti-Freeze, Drivers Told

A serious shortage of alcohol today brought from a spokesman of the Standard Oil company (Ohio) a warning to all motorists to conserve their anti-freeze solutions.

Carl J. Bear, Mansfield division manager of the company, warned that a "large percentage of cars on the road are now without enough anti-freeze solution to get them safely through the winter."

He explained that the current shortage of alcohol and anti-freeze solutions is the result of CPA limitation on the use of grain for ethyl alcohol early in 1946, serious shrinkage in government-owned inventories, and unavailability of Cuban "blackstrap" molasses used in alcohol manufacture.

"On top of that, the stoppage in coal and steel production last spring and this fall interrupted production of methyl alcohol and caused a shortage of steel drums for shipping," Bear said.

He urged all motorists to examine hose connections and other radiator troubles and have leaks repaired.

HELICOPTER SERVICE

CINCINNATI—(INS)—Air mail may be expedited within Greater Cincinnati in the near future by the use of a helicopter. The flying of mail by a helicopter from the Boone county airport across the Ohio river from Cincinnati, to the roof of the postoffice annex has been declared "very probable and much desired."

SLOAN OPPOSED TO CLOSED SHOP

BOSTON — (INS) — Alfred P. Sloan, jr., chairman of General Motors corporation, believes that the closed shop be outlawed, that collective-bargaining on an industry basis be prohibited as a "monopolistic practice" and that labor unions be responsible for their acts in return for their privileges.

He told the Boston Chamber of Commerce yesterday that all forms of violence and coercion should be outlawed with heavy penalties and unions should be required to make public their financial operations.

Sloan pointed out that "unlimited right to petition for bargaining elections should be granted to employers."

He added:

"No such right now exists as to the employer unless two or more unions are in conflict."

He said that "today, labor has become a monopoly and something is now going to be done about it.

"Monopolies lead to dictatorships. And dictatorships can not be tolerated in a democracy. It makes no difference whether it is an economic or a political dictatorship, or one of any other type.

"We can continue to accept the monopolistic position of labor and take the consequences, or we can deal with it with the objective of preserving our economic freedom by protecting our competitive economy. We now must choose."

YOUNGEST IN THE BUSINESS—Little Tondo Laya, just turned two, has started out early in life on her grocery-clerk career. The charming young miss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Battle, left her dolls and teddy bears five months ago for the attractively wrapped items in her parents' Forest Gardens grocery, Olivesburg road. Unpacking a carton of ketchup, left, or getting a bottle of milk for a customer is no task for the 32-inch-tall little lady. For the ketchup shelf she uses a bench to help her reach, and for the milk, she goes on all fours right into the refrigerator. Coffee and cigarets are identified by the "pictures" on the can or wrappers. And she seems to have made the right choice in the center photo as she hands the items over to customer H. W. Hoffman of Fleming Falls road.

City's Youngest Grocery Clerk Smiles Her Way Into Hearts of Patrons at Daddy's Store

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Main "shortage" at the Forest Gardens grocery, Olivesburg road, is 32 inches high, weighs 25½ pounds, has curly brown hair, blue eyes, a disarming smile and a disposition fit for an angel.

It's no puzzle—it's Tondo Laya Battle, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Battle, grocery proprietors, who is undoubtedly the youngest grocery clerk in the business.

And besides, she's an old hand at the work. About five months ago, her father commented, she indicated her ability to help around the store by scurrying after items the customers asked for.

Now, to some individuals, a mere 32 inches would be a handicap in a place where shelves line right up to the ceiling and counters are higher than one's head. But not to Tondo.

* * *

WITH THE HELP OF AN extra shelf-bench on the floor, Tondo finds that she can stretch her height by wiggling up on her tummy to the top. Once up on a level with the other shelves, she is in her glory arranging ketchup bottles or other light commodities.

All her parents have to say is, "Line up the bottles, Tondo, with the labels to the front," and the ketchup bottles take formation like wooden soldiers.

If it's a pack of cigarets the customer wants, Tondo gets the brand by the pictures on the wrapper.

But, by far, the most amusing antic of the tiny clerk is her trip after a quart of milk.

"And a quart of milk," the customer adds. Quick as a wink, Tondo ducks around the counter, opens the floor-level refrigerator door and then, on hands and knees, climbs INSIDE the cooler. It's only a moment and she's climbing out again, with a twinkle in the blue eyes and a half-as-big-as-she-is bottle of milk in her arms.

* * *

LATELY, THE LITTLE GIRL has branched out in "outside activities." Accompanying her father on a call for gasoline from the pumps in front of the grocery, Tondo accepts the money from the customers and marches proudly back with the change for the cash register.

But being a grocery clerk is not her only claim to fame. Tondo's unusual name, her mother related, is what may be called "strictly oomphy." It seems that Mr. and Mrs. Battle were taken with the name "Tondolayo," screen name of glamorous star, Hedy Lamarr, in "White Savage."

When Tondo was born her parents separated the exotic name and substituted a final "a" for the original "o."

In a few years, Tondo is very apt to face a grave decision—wheither to remain with her ketchup and milk bottles or to live up to her glamorous namesake. If she's as charming at 20 as she is at two, she's liable to be a real threat to Miss Lamarr's career.

7 JOBS IN 10 YEARS CALLED YOUTH QUOTA

It takes the average worker 10 years and seven jobs to find his place in the business wrld, Vernon E. Vining, sales consultant for Westinghouse appliance division here, told business administration students at Ohio Wesleya university yesterday.

The first job is important only as a "testing ground," Vining said. A college diploma will not alter this situation, because the diploma itself gains "no particular respect" in the working world.

"Businessmen are looking for young men who have behind them a liberal education which will take them any place," he said. "Industry is growing tired of men who think a college education means taking business administration and getting a job."

Vining told students to start a job "with deep humility," and warned against the philosophy which causes some college graduates to feel a job is "too small for them."

ATTLEE FACES NEW CHALLENGE BY CHURCHILL

Wartime Leader Prepares To Demand Showdown Vote.

LONDON— (AP) —Winston Churchill, Britain's deposed wartime leader, stood ready today for a showdown fight with the laborite government of Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee.

Accusing the labor government of "tyranny, conceit and incompetence," Churchill yesterday announced he would call next month for a parliamentary vote of censure on his charges.

Churchill's announcement came as Prime Minister Attlee's party announced new plans to boss British farmers and prepared to take over the country's 20,000-mile railway system.

As leader of the conservative opposition, Churchill said he would demand a parliamentary debate to arraign the government when the lawmakers reassemble Jan. 21 after a month's Christmas holiday.

Gives Price Guarantees.

Legislation just introduced will authorize extensive supervision of farming, and guarantee prices for many crops. It provides the government can take away the property of farmers who refuse to abide by official advice on how to grow things. The bill is part of the parliamentary social and industrial "revolution" promised by the labor party in 1945.

Although a white paper issued with copies of the bill did not mention it, another reason for the drive toward greater food production was the husbanding of British foreign exchange much of which, particularly dollars, now is spent for imported foods.

The white paper declared a section dealing with guaranteed prices and assured markets gave food and agriculture ministers "admittedly wide powers" to "do anything that is necessary to achieve the purpose" of the law.

Costs of guaranteeing prices "cannot accurately be estimated in advance," the white paper said.

Technological and mechanical improvements in farming methods will be offered to landowners and tenants through a nationwide agricultural advisory service. For those who won't take the government's advice the bill "enables the minister to place them under supervision, to issue directors to them, and if necessary, to dispossess them."

Bodies of Aged Couple Discovered

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—The bodies of an aged couple who had been dead for two weeks, were discovered by police in the bedroom of a 20-room mansion in suburban East Cleveland yesterday.

The dead couple, William M. Roberts, 70, and his wife, Florence, had lived in the large house 50 years which for the past four years had not been serviced by gas or electric, according to authorities.

PIONEER TRAIL MARKED

Housewives of Europe Find Food Outlook More Cheerful

LONDON — (AP) — European housewives, surveying their larders at the beginning of December, generally found that the shelves were better stocked than a year ago and prospects for Christmas dinners were far brighter.

For the wealthy, in almost every country, everything would be available on prewar scale.

Associated Press correspondents throughout Europe, preparing for a Christmas thousands of miles from home, painted this overall picture:

Britons were expecting many extras on their still strictly controlled rations. Additional allowances of sugar, meat, candy and canned fruits were promised, while the number of turkeys on the market was expected to be up to 80 to 85 percent of prewar figures. Extra ingredients had been allocated to bakers for Christmas cakes iced in the traditional manner. Oranges from Palestine and South Africa were on the way. So were apples from the United States and Canada and there would be bananas for the children.

Beer's Still Weak.

British beer continued weak and Scotch was scarce, but 18,500 cases of liqueurs were en route from France, 12,000 cases from Holland and 3,500 from Denmark. Large consignments of wines were expected from Portugal, Spain, South Africa and France.

In Eire there was a big "stomach-ache." The agreement to forego grain imports while there was pressing need elsewhere, and exhaustion of the stocks of American wheat, necessitated use of this season's Irish crop. The high moisture content coupled with the 100 per cent extraction produced an indigestible loaf. Otherwise, apart from a seasonal shortage of fresh eggs, Irishmen were still eating well.

Frenchmen will have more to eat this winter.

Prices of foodstuffs continued to rise, but those with money would lack little.

France's two big food problems remained transport and the black market. The food was there, in the country and the colonies, but the problem was to get it to legal markets and keep it there.

Belgians Complain.

Belgian housewives complained bitterly when they learned the butter allowance had been cut to 10 ounces for the month. However, the sugar ration remained unchanged, and there would be more candy and jam, pastries and prepared baby foods. Unrationed fish was plentiful and inexpensive, but game and poultry were still beyond the reach of most.

Though the food situation in Holland was better balanced than last year, rations still were moderate and the Christmas dinner would not differ much from the usual Sunday evening meal—soup, potatoes, one or two green vegetables, a small piece of meat and pudding. Chickens were available for those with higher incomes.

American military government food and agriculture experts said the food situation in Germany would continue "extremely tight" throughout the winter, depending on how the estimated requirements on shipments from abroad were met, particularly in spacing ships so that there always would be a reserve in hand.

In Switzerland, making strenuous efforts to reestablish its tourist trade, it was possible to eat well in hotels and restaurants. Individual rations worked out at about 2½ pounds of meat a month and less than half-a-pound of butter.

Italian Prices High.

Italians with plenty of money would be able to eat just about anything they wanted for Christmas—including turkey. But with prices higher and the government desperately seeking grain to maintain bread and sphaghetti rations, most would eat sparingly.

While some 2,000,000 men and women in drought-hit areas of Romania would make their Christmas dinner of cornflour mush or Red Cross soups, another 14,000,000 Romanians would eat comparatively well. Typical Christmas dinner would vary from cold sausages, hot soup with meatballs to stuffed sauerkraut with hashed pork and a dessert to pate de foie gras, mayonnaise of fish, roast turkey or goose, port with vegetables and sweets, all washed down with Tzuica, Romanian plum liquor.

In Bulgaria, virtually everyone was looking forward to extra food for the traditional Christmas dinner. The substantial bread ration had been maintained—Bulgarians live mainly on bread—and almost all families, in town and country, prepared during the fall the pickles, cabbages, pumpkins, fruits and jams for the so-called "wintering."

In Hungary food stocks generally were much better than last year, but there was insufficient money for extraordinary holiday festivities.

Yugoslavians were looking forward to a bitter winter although crop conditions and additional UNRRA aid had brought about a considerable improvement in food conditions. About half of the expected Maize crop, upon which the country depends for human consumption and livestock, was lost through drought.

Greeks Not Optimistic.

Greece would have her most plentiful Christmas in six years, but high prices and the probability of a food crisis next spring deprived the weary nation of open optimism.

Reports reaching Moscow from the Kuban — one of the great grain baskets of the Soviet Union —said that despite unfavorable summer weather there was a good harvest of wheat, barley and corn.

Despite bumper crops, spiralling food prices brought increasing difficulties for the bulk of Spain's population.

In Portugal, increased restrictions and distribution difficulties made foods more scarce and more expensive each day.

Up in Scandinavia, the creators of Swedish smorgasbord were becoming acquainted again with a restricted form of their famed hors d'oeuvres after five years separation. Otherwise, "normalcy" in Sweden meant continued rationing of major foodstuffs. The Christmas dinner would lack some customary items but hoarding of pork ration points and premiums on the salvage of used fats would ensure for most the traditional cured ham.

The Finnish housewife found little difference in the food situation compared with a year ago, although imports were coming in in a steady, though narrow, stream. Extra coffee, sugar and raisins were promised for Christmas.

Most Danes would have to do without the traditional Christmas dinner of rice porridge (with sugar and cinnamon) and roast goose. Rice has not been on sale since the war started and geese are so expensive that only a few can afford them.

UNFRIENDLY BULL

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — (INS) — Harry Culley, 56-year-old farmer, set out to train a bull by tying it to an apple tree and trying to make friends with it. The bull became frightened and dashed around the tree, pinning Culley on the trunk with the rope. When friends answered Culley's desperate calls for aid he was found to have five broken ribs and a punctured lung.

Iowa Farmboy Pays Visit to British Lord

WASHINGTON —(CP)— Roger Newburn, 21-year-old Iowa farmboy, will spend the Christmas holidays at the British embassy as a guest of an "old friend"—Ambassador Lord Inverchapel.

Inverchapel is repaying a courtesy.

The whole thing started last August when Roger came here with a group of Iowa 4-H club members, visited the embassy and met the ambassador.

Roger boasted then about the wonders of Iowa. The envoy was genially skeptical, so Roger invited him to "come to Iowa and see for yourself."

To Roger's happy surprise, the ambassador took him up on the invitation. Last October Inverchapel went to the Newburn farm near Woolstock, and spent three days as guest of Roger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Newburn. They thought the ambassador "a swell guy."

At the end of his visit, Inverchapel invited the Newburns to spend Christmas at the embassy as his guests. The parents couldn't make it, but they are sending Roger as their "ambassador."

The British embassy said that Roger is due here this week-end. He will stay until after Christmas.

PILES ARE NEVER MILD

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its rundown tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

FAMED 10-2-4 DRINK MAKES DEBUT IN LOCAL STORES

"DRINK A BITE TO EAT AT 10, 2 AND 4 O'CLOCK, IT BRIGHTENS SPIRITS AND IMPROVES EFFICIENCY," CLAIM DR. PEPPER MAKERS

Now available in bottles here is the famous 10-2-4 drink, Dr. Pepper, one of the oldest and most popular of 5c carbonated beverages in America.

Dr. Pepper originated in Texas 61 years ago, where it has always been a high favorite. In more recent years, under aggressive management, distribution has spread gradually over most of the nation.

Dr. Pepper is unique in the 5c drink field. Its flavor is not derived from any single source, nor is it a copy of any other drink. It is an ingenious, utterly unique combination of many good things in one, and so delicately balanced and blended that it never tires the taste.

The manufacturers of Dr. Pepper have led the industry in exploiting a five-cent carbonated drink, not merely as a drink but a food energy lift. The famous slogan: "Drink a bite to eat at 10, 2 and 4 o'clock," is no mere catch phrase. Eminent scientists now recommend five or six meals daily instead of three. They urge workers to eat three regular, well-balanced meals at the usual hours, then supplement them, between meals with snacks of high-energy food. Their tests proved that manual workers, under this system, produced up to 10% more work.

Bottling Plant Launched By Ex-Coast Guard Man

New Mansfield Enterprise Headed by Paul R. Winn

Mansfield's newest enterprise, the Dr. Pepper Bottling Company, is now in full operation, according to an announcement made by the owner, Paul R. Winn. Mr. Winn said that his franchise, granted by Dr. Pepper Company of Dallas, Texas, grants him the exclusive rights to bottle and distribute the nationally famous "Liquid Bite to Eat" beverage in Mansfield and vicinity.

The Mansfield bottling plant of the new company occupies the two-story brick building at 875 Bowman street. According to Mr. Winn, a complete, new bottling plant will be built when conditions become favorable.

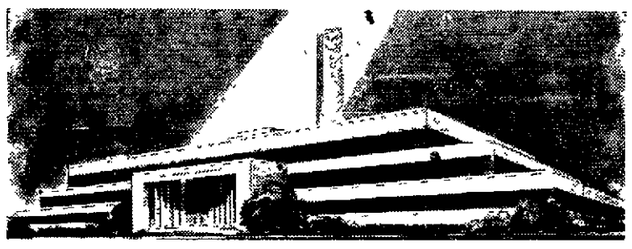
Before serving 30 months in the Coast Guard aboard an assault transport in the Pacific, Winn was advertising director of a chain of Southern newspapers. He will be the active director of the enterprise, supervising administrative details and promotion. Tillman D. Williams will direct production and all plant activities.

Winn is profoundly impressed with the stability and richness of the Mansfield area as a market, but said that most of all he is impressed by the friendliness and character of the people. "I like everything about it," said Winn, "because in spite of having all the things that usually make a city cold, Mansfield still retains the warmth and friendliness of a small village."

"We have selected Mansfield as a place to build a future," declared Winn, "and impressions up to now assure us that we have made a wise choice. To the dealers who retail our product and to those who consume it, we pledge that the highest standards of quality will be maintained rigidly, and that we will conduct our business on a plane which will reflect credit to us and make the city proud to count us among its useful industries."

"We predict that Drinking a Bite To Eat at 10, 2 and 4 o'clock, with Dr. Pepper, soon will be as popular in Mansfield, as it is in other parts of the nation," said Winn.

DR. PEPPER CO. ERECTS HUGE NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS



SQUARE FOOT AREA EQUALS 30-STORY BUILDING—In the early 1930's Dr. Pepper Company built new syrup factories in both Dallas and Birmingham, Alabama, which were then calculated as adequate for a quarter century to come. Within the span of 16 years they have been completely outgrown.

Now a huge, new National headquarters building in Dallas is taking form. It occupies a 26-acre site which is being landscaped like a beautiful park. The building will be a masterpiece of architectural beauty; modern to the nth degree; resplendent with white masonry walls, glass brick and glistening tile.

The building will house the syrup factory, supplying a large part of the United States and foreign countries, the executive offices, testing laboratories. More than 4,000 franchise applications, are now under consideration. Harrisburg is the second awarded in the United States since V-J Day.

The Hawaiian Islands franchise was recently awarded to the Dillingham interests there. Recently opened in Mexico City is the new Embotteladora Mexicana, built and equipped to bottle Dr. Pepper exclusively.

National advertising in the Saturday Evening Post and other National magazines has been appearing for many months. Dr. Pepper has also been widely publicized on the coast-to-coast network of American Broadcasting Company.

"DARTS FOR DOUGH" OVER WJW SUNDAYS 5 P. M.

ABC NETWORK BRIGHT SPOT FROM HOLLYWOOD IS HILARIOUS RIOT OF WITS, SKILL, FUN AND MONEY, STARRING ORVAL ANDERSON AND JANE ADAMS.

Listener ratings prove this is one of America's top favorites among the popular quiz shows. It originates at Radio City, Hollywood. Local public-audience fans scramble for tickets and hundreds are turned away. Network favorite, Orval Anderson, is Dart-Dealer. Beauteous Jane Adams, Universal Pictures actress, is his assistant.

Players chosen from the audience must answer questions correctly to earn darts. The target is a giant Dr. Pepper clock. Darts landing in the outer green band win $10; in the next blue band $2, and in the inner red band $4. A bull's-eye wins the sum total of 10, 2 and 4, or $16. Darts landing in the clock hands pay $10 each. For the best darts in the grand throw at the finish, first prize is $100; consolation prize, a Gruen wrist watch.

Question-muffers must pay a forfeit to get darts by acting in a ridiculous situation.

PIN-UP GIRL PREVENTS PIN DOWN—Jane Adams, beautiful Hollywood pin-up girl, prevents Bill Bendix, filmdom's favorite badman, from pinning down Dart Dealer Orval Anderson. Running true to his movie type, Bendix figured this was the easiest way to win that $100 Grand Throw award. After a tense moment, Bendix settled for an icy-cold bottle of Dr. Pepper, which Jane Adams rushed from the cooler on stage.

GEORGIA GIVES SICK TALMADGE HIS 4TH TERM

White Supremacy Exponent Prepares to Take Office.

ATLANTA, Ga. —(AP)— Eugene Talmadge, fiery supporter of white supremacy, will begin his fourth term as Georgia's governor in January.

His three previous terms were turbulent. He tangled with state officials, with the federal government and finally the people voted him out after a row involving the state university system and elected young Ellis Arnall.

Today, Talmadge at 62 is a sick man—how sick nobody except his intimates knows. Since his admission to a Jacksonville, Fla., hospital in July when he suffered a

ATLANTA, Ga. —(AP)— Georgia's colorful, "white supremacy" governor-elect, Eugene Talmadge, lay tonight in near-critical condition from a recurring stomach ailment.

An authoritative source said it appeared that Talmadge would pull through. But the next 48 hours were regarded as decisive.

stomach hemorrhage, he has been under the care of physicians. Much of the time he has been in the hospital.

Despite his illness, however, he was able to order and direct a campaign to defeat an amendment to the state constitution which would have set up a constitutional welfare board. Talmadge contended the amendment would have prevented him from keeping a campaign promise to fire the state director of public welfare. The amendment was defeated.

Since he was stricken, Talmadge has had no interviews with newspapermen except one with Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta constitution. McGill reported him as saying he was suffering merely from allergies to "hospitals, needles and strange women who come in to bathe him."

Georgia's unique county unit vote system, recently upheld in the courts, won Talmadge his fourth term. James V. Carmichael, who had the backing of Arnall, won the popular vote, but the county unit vote went to Talmadge.

The system, under which counties have from two to six unit votes, depending on population, has long been a Talmadge weapon. His strength centered in the smaller counties, which under the system can outvote the big cities.

And in all of his campaigns, which include two unsuccessful ones for the United States senate, his gallus-snapping, down-to-earth tactics have been directed principally at the rural vote.

Since Talmadge's illnes, his son and political heir-apparent has been the governor elect's spokesman. Herman Talmadge delivered the address accepting the gubernatorial nomination at the state Democratic convention. He mimics almost perfectly his father's mannerisms. And he says "this is a white man's country" with the same force as his father.

Talmadge won his election on a white supremacy platform and is committed as his first act in office to revoke all state primary laws and institute a party controlled white primary. He also has promised free driver's licenses for life and free business licenses to veterans.

Staring him in the face, however, are promises for expanded public services. For these services the state will need new revenue. So far Talmadge hasn't said where he is going to get the money.

DOMINION GIVES EMPLOYE BONUS

Christmas cheer will radiate among employes at the Dominion Electrical Manufacturing company Saturday morning. Causes are fourfold.

As a result of a profit sharing plan, established in 1942, company officials said, $45,000 in cash will be distributed to employes who have been members of the plan for the last five years since 1942. This sum represents the company's contribution.

Christmas bonus checks will be given to all supervisory and office personnel.

All 600 employes will receive an oven-dressed 12-to 14-pound turkey.

And to get the New Year off to a good start a sum of $80,000 will be set aside for the accounts of 140 employes who are eligible members for the year ending Dec. 31, 1946. This sum represents the maximum amount allowed by federal laws regulating profit sharing plans.

Winchell — On Broadway

THE MOST PENETRATING analysis of the deadly fascination of colyuming was penned by Don Marquis: "The fact is that while column-writing ruined me, I loved it. It sapped my vitality, made corns and bunions on my brain, wrecked my life, and I adored doing it. During the three years since I have quit it I have had four or five terrible struggles not to go back to it. I am apt to walk into any newspaper office in America at any hour of the day or night and hand in a half-dozen columns if I didn't watch myself, and give them away for nothing but the pleasure of seeing them in type. I think it is the most destructive vice to which any writer may become addicted; and at the same time I love it and adore it and yearn for it."

Jimmy Walker once offered this reporter some shrewd counsel that we have often quoted. To wit: "If you make too many friends, soon you'll be afraid of hurting somebody's feelings and you won't be able to write anything about anybody."

When Mark Twain was running a crusading gazette, one of his targets told him that he was wasting his time. "One man cannot improve this world," he said.

Twain countered with: "Just make yourself honest and there will be one less rascal in the world!"

Another reason for Damon Runyon's reportorial genius was his ability to concentrate under the most difficult conditions. When he was a war correspondent during the initial global fracas a cannon exploded a few yards from where Damon was typing a yarn. But he continued working without batting an eyelash. Only after he had completed his story did he look up and nonchalantly inquire: "Did I hear something?"

The late Capt. Patterson always got a wallop out of being a reporter. He would often leave his publishing duties to turn up unexpectedly where news was being made and inform his reporter covering the assignment: "Here I am. What's to be done? Understand now, you're the boss and I'm working for you. What angle do you want me to take?"

About a century ago the firebrand of American journalism was a lady named Victoria Woodhull. She published a sheet that went in for personal journalism without any holds barred. As a result, she was beaten, thrown down a flight of stairs and even jailed. But it failed to stop her dauntless and candid reporting. . . . Incidentally, at one time this unusual and ambitious lady was a candidate for president!

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—My learned colleague, Mrs. Roosevelt, always a stimulating writer, has recently expressed, for the second time, opposition to freedom of expression for the Rev. Martin Niemoeller, the German Lutheran clergyman and a Nazi, too, I understand, down to the point at which the Nazi authority would have substituted Adolf Hitler or some pagan mist or fume rising from the German soil for the God of Christianity.

The Reverend Niemoeller has come to the United States to explain his position to those who are willing to listen, but with no suggestion that anyone should be compelled to listen or forbidden to disagree.

As one of those who disagrees with him on certain matters, I am mindful, nevertheless, that Mrs. Roosevelt has often held that communists should be allowed to explain their theory of government and advocate its adoption here. The supreme court has so held, too, with the proviso, however, that in advocating this change they must not incite persons to use violent means. I understand that Niemoeller doesn't advocate national socialism for the United States at all, but, at most, merely reveals it for our inspection.

* * *

THERE WAS MUCH MORE to National Socialism than the ostracism, then the persecution and finally the massacre of Jews. Some of its elements have been present in some phases of the New Deal in which Mrs. Roosevelt herself believed from kiver-to-kiver. National socialism is said to have wiped out the unions and the "labor movement" in Germany. I never understood that to be the case at all. I thought National Socialism merely converted the "labor movement" into an auxiliary of the ruling party under dictatorial bosses and it has seemed to me that the New Deal did this, too, only with less success. Here, the New Deal swept millions of workers into unions whose bosses were fierce partisans of the party and, when we got into the war, the agencies of the government, which were actually party cells, took over the functions of the union officials.

That is, the government took authority to say what wages a man should get, which, under true unionism, is the duty of the union representative in collective bargaining. In the recent John L. Lewis case, the government pretended to seize and operate the coal mines and thus to become the employer. We know the government did not "possess" or operate" those mines in the honest sense, but merely established a technical legal position as the employer. However, here was the government acting as both employer and bargaining agent to fix wages, which was just what the National Socialists did in Germany.

* * *

NOT ONLY THAT, but in 1944, when her late husband was running for his fourth term, Mrs. Roosevelt must have observed that many unions in the Roosevelt political party collected forced contributions from workers who opposed Roosevelt politically, and used them to re-elect him. The Italian Fascist party thought of that first and the German national socialists adopted it as a good idea. Then the Roosevelt party adopted it, too. We were told that it was just nonsense to say that our workers were forced to join these unions, but, if that was the case and they were willing and enthusiastic members, why did the unions insist on the closed shop and why did the New Deal government give it to them? And if the New Deal party abhorred National Socialism, why did it permit these unions to levy political taxes for its benefit from unwilling donors, and why didn't it repudiate this advice and spurn the money?

If all this was National Socialism in Germany it seems to me to follow that it was still National Socialism here, although I heard it called Democracy.

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The wrap-up season has arrived and I am not talking about earmuffs. The economists are wrapping up 1946 for the financial pages; the political experts are producing their year-end reviews.

The sports writers, the book editors, and the international pundits are producing essays about the charley horses, the sexy novels and the diplomatic insults of 1946. Everybody's doing it. There's no law against it, and with no further preamble I present my own size-up of the year as I—groggily—remember it:

Having twice atomized the same lagoon in the South Pacific, the government authorized building at Schenectady, N. Y., the world's first atomic power plant. A resident of Olympia, Wash., invented an automatic oyster opener.

The navy started the greatest expedition yet to the South Pole, and when half way there with 5,000 men, fur coats, hot coffee, and goggles to ward off sun blindness, discovered it had forgotten its skis. The price of hamburger rose to $1.25 in the capital; housewives signed pledges to turn vegetarian; the value of hamburger skidded. So did the value of mink coats, by 25 per cent.

* * *

THERE WAS AN ELECTION; results were indicated by caviar canapes at Republican national headquarters; pretzels at the Democratic sanctum. The Capital Transit company experimented with pink street cars in a vain hope to soothe the straphangers. A talking dog turned up in London, but scientists interviewed at the Smithsonian Institution said a prattling pup was a liar on its face.

The capitol cops, solidly Democratic for 16 years, began hunting other jobs; the Republican high command simultaneously began hunting Republicans with ambitions to be cops. Senator The Man Bilbo spent an unhappy month with his mouth taped shut because of an operation. The electric hairbrush with vibrating bristles for the weak-wristed went on the market.

John L. Lewis called a coal strike; then he called it off, misquoting Shakespeare in the doing. The government sold a battleship for junk.

The new Miss America tried to lure all womankind into wearing golden chains from ear to ear, but the ladies wouldn't lure. Style setter of the year was President Truman with the black and silver bow tie for evening wear. His daughter took up her studies for grand opry.

* * *

THE MESSRS. Paul Porter and John Small retired when the OPA and the CPA were strained from the soup. The old farmer's almanac predicted one of the coldest, snowiest winters yet. The cotton market collapsed. Vultures found a roosting place on the roof of one of the swankiest apartment houses in Washington.

The senators overhauled their underground trolley. The agriculture department issued a definitive treatise on how to crack nuts without also cracking knuckles.

The federal narcotics bureau discovered nobody thought to remove the cocaine from a load of life rafts on surplus sale. A consignment of girdles for WACS turned out to be worthless; they'd lost their snap when the government got around to selling them.

Nickel candy bars went to six cents. Postmaster General Robert Hannegan placed talking mail boxes in strategic spots to advertise bargains in air mail stamps and 1946 must have been a big year: I'm just getting a good start. More later, but not much later. Only 11 days are left.

CAA PLANS MOVE

Mayor Roy V. Vaughn said today he had received a telegram from the Civil Aeronautics authority stating that the agency is preparing to lease from the city a building at the airport for a communications station. The building would house equipment to be moved from Hayesville.

BANKS TO TAKE CONTRIBUTIONS IN FUND DRIVE

Committee Reports $8,200 In So Far in Campaign For New Friendly House.

Mansfield banks today began serving as collection depots for the current $60,000 Friendly House drive as the campaign entered its sixth day with $8,200 in the contribution coffer.

Paul Endriss, campaign chairman, said that the committee has worked out a plan with banks whereby contributions from individuals may be turned in to the banks for later collection by the committee.

Meanwhile, officials said the results of collections so far "looked encouraging," and that several special gifts from organizations had been turned in yesterday. These included $300 from the Moose lodge; $100 from the Richland County CIO Council; $100 from the American Legion; $25 from the PTA at Hedges school; and $25 from the Mansfield Parent-Teachers' Council.

Endriss said that today's total doesn't include the larger gifts expected from industry, retail stores, and business and professional groups in the city.

The drive is scheduled to end Jan. 15. The $60,000 representing the agency's share of the total building cost of $235,000 will be supplemented by 70 per cent of the total cost, provided by Mansfield manufacturers through the Richland Foundation.

The new settlement house will be built on three lots facing North Mulberry street, donated by Carl Sternbaum as a memorial to his son, Lt. Jacob Sternbaum, killed in World War II.

WHEAT SURPLUS SPURS EXPORTS

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Prospects of a price-depressing surplus in wheat after next year's harvests may spur government efforts to increase shipments of grain to hungry foreign nations in the immediate months ahead.

In the first forecast for the 1947 winter wheat crop, the agriculture department raised the possibility that production may set a new record and pile up more wheat than will be needed for domestic use, exports and reserves.

The forecast envisaged a winter wheat crop of 946,527,000 bushels, or 9.1 per cent more than this year's record yield of 873,893,000 bushels. By comparison, production for the 1935-44 period averaged only 618,019,000 bushels.

Should this forecast be borne out and the spring wheat crop be increased by the same percentage, next year's crop of winter and spring wheat combined would be about 1,253,000,000 bushels. The carry over from this year will amount to 200,000,000 bushels.

Miss Lorentz Dies In Chicago

Miss Barbara Lorentz, 88, native of Richland county, died at her home in Chicago Thursday following a brief illness.

Miss Lorentz was born in Springfield township Oct. 21, 1858, the daughter of Frederick and Catherine Winemiller Lorentz. She moved to Chicago 50 years ago. She taught school for a number of years but was retired at the time of her death.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Mary Palmer of Ontario and Mrs. Sadie Batten of Chicago, and several nieces and nephews.

The body will arrive at the Finefrock funeral home early Saturday and sevices will be conducted there Saturday morning by Rev. A. J. Staats, pastor of the Free Methodist church. Burial will be in Ontario cemetery.

MAYER NAMED TO CITY BOARD

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn today announced the reappointment of two members to city boards and commissions and the appointment of one new member.

Frank Mayer, 243 North Main street, has been appointed to the city health board to replace Dr. W. H. Wolford, 824 Park avenue west, who requested that he not be re-appointed, Vaughn said.

J. A. Willard, 117 Parkwood boulevard, was reappointed to the boxing commission and H. W. Arlin, 629 Edgewood road was renamed to the city recreation board.

All the terms are for five years, beginning Jan. 1, 1947.

CUB PACK HOLDS CHRISTMAS PARTY

Movies, a playlet by the cubs, and advancement awards made up the bill of fare at the Christmas party of Cub Pack No. 4, last night in Grace Episcopal church.

Cubmaster Fritz Fisher presented Billy Fisher with his webolos badge and advanced him to scouthood in Scout troop No. 6.

Advancement awards went to Tommie Nichols, Tom Mattox, Dwight McVicker, Charles Brenner, Jack Pollock, Gayle Kanz, Warren Ullom and Roger Blackstone. Ted Linham, Tommy Nichols and Jack Nichols were welcomed as new pack members.

Santa Claus Visits Moose; Youngsters Enjoy Vaudeville

It was first come, first served for seats at Mansfield Moose lodge annual Christmas party last night.

Only reserved seats were five front rows in the auditorium saved for children from the Richland county children's home.

Fully an hour before the party began youngsters and oldsters streamed into the lodge auditorium. Children gazed wide-eyed at the towering, glittering Christmas tree looming some 30 feet in the air, and then to the cowboy-attired Sunshiners whose chaps and 10-gallon hats fascinated them as much as their melodies were enjoyed by the adults.

All eyes popped wide with amazement and pleasure as 15 acts of vaudeville were presented by the children of lodge members. With Moose Frank Jocha acting as master of ceremonies, and with four-year-old Frank Levy starred as the youngest performer, the audience of more than 300 saw and heard everything from acrobatics to recitations.

When the applause had died down Santa Claus suddenly dropped in. He was greeted with shrieks of joy and anticipation. His "treats" were eagerly received.

Having warned all the children to "go right home to bed," Santa departed.

Hughes Credits Groups.

When asked to whom the credit for such a fine evening should go, Lodge Governor Lloyd Hughes said: "If I named them all I'd never get finished. Just say the lodge women's committee headed by Madge Jerell, and the men's golfing league, headed by Jrank Jocha, were most responsible. Mrs. Lloyd Lehman kindly offered to accompany the vaudeville acts."

40 et 8 Club Buys Building on Ashland Road for Clubrooms

Mansfield's 40 et 8 club of the American Legion, homeless since last October, will soon move into a new two-story home on Ashland road between Central and Fifth avenues, Hollis Moorhead, president of the club's Home Building company, said today.

The building formerly owned and occupied by the National Engineering and Pattern Works has been purchased and will be converted into a clubhouse, Moorhead said.

"We take possession Jan. 1 and hope to be completely installed by Jan. 15," Moorhead reported.

The building will be redecorated and a heating system will be installed. When completed, it will have a lounge and an assembly hall with a capacity of 400 persons.

The club was forced to leave its former quarters on West Fourth street when the Montgomery Ward company converted the building to storage use.

GORMAN-RUPP GIVES BONUS

More than 100 employes of Gorman-Rupp company received bonus checks raising their share in the company's profits to $635 each during 1946 at the eleventh annual Christmas dinner party in the Mansfield-Leland hotel last night.

Checks covering the second half of the year were distributed to the 110 employes last night. In addition, women employes and wives and girl friends of men employes received electric steam irons, and playing card packs were given to the men.

Additional bonuses accruing under an employer-employe Christmas Savings plan raised the average income above regular pay to about $675 per employe. All factory and office employes share in the yearly melon.

Msgr. R. C. Goebel, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic church, who spoke at the party, praised the cooperative spirit and understanding existing at Gorman-Rupp, where no work stoppages or lay-offs have ever existed.

"Cooperating and working together is the American way," he said. "Our land has been wonderfully blessed. We achieve our true destiny, only as we are able to work together in peace, with differences set aside in the common good."

J. C. Gorman, president of the company, was toastmaster. H. E. Rupp, vice president and secretary, reported briefly on phases of the company's employe welfare program.

Gorman and Rupp were given remembrances by employes. R. J. Alander, general manager of The News-Journal, a guest, spoke briefly, and Miss Helen Dickson, a Gorman-Rupp employe, sang a Christmas solo during the after-dinner program. Biss Leicy and his orchestra played for dancing and Meisse, the magician, of Columbus entertained.

NO HOLIDAY—

Things won't ease up at the Mansfield YMCA during the holidays. A special holiday schedule has been prepared by Program Director Don Cram, and it calls for a series of events to keep the boys busy, beginning next Monday. Only Christmas and New Year's day will be quiet at the 'Y.' Feature of the program will be a grade school holiday basketball tournament, beginning Dec. 30 and running through Jan. 3.

WORTH IT—

Those closest to the fire always feel the most heat. Such was the case of a mother whose children have attended Friendly House regularly and who turned over her Christmas bonus check to the $60,000 campaign yesterday. When told that such a large contribution wasn't necessary for one person, the woman answered by saying that her children had received "a lot more than the amount of the check from Friendly House." The donor also reported that her check had started the contribution in her department at Mansfield Tire and Rubber company and that the department was striving for a 100 percent donation. The campaign, which will close Jan. 15, is to raise funds for a new settlement building on North Mulberry street.

SANTA WON'T FORGET—

Santa isn't going to forget the little girl who wrote an appealing letter to Adj. R. L. Gutterman of the Volunteers of America, yesterday. The child, who appealed for toys for "us kids," said her father had been ill throughout the summer and still wasn't able to do heavy work, and that there "wouldn't be any toys" for her brothers and sisters this year. Gutterman said the letter was by far the most pathetic he'd read this season and added that there WILL be toys and plenty of Christmas goodies under their tree.

DOESN'T MIND COLD—

Mrs. B. K. Higinbotham, 317 Bartley avenue, could hardly believe her eyes—or her ears—yesterday. While doing her afternoon housework, she heard the unmistakable chirp of a robin. She looked out. There, sure enough, was a robin perched on an icy branch of a tree, acting for all the world as though it didn't mind the cold at all. "Must be a hardy bird," Mrs. Higinbotham said, "tostay in this climate when most of his breed is taking it easy, wintering in the sunny south." A few robins stay in Ohio during the winter, but they're seen oftener during thaws in January and February than in December.

...Chatter...

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn reporting it was so foggy on the west coast that "even the pigeons were grounded." He returned yesterday from a six-day air trip to California. "Weather was perfect until we hit the coast," he said. "There they were bound up in a four-day fog." It apparently was severe and unusual, for newspapers gave it top billing on front pages, the mayor said.

M/Sgt. Daniel A. DeSalvo and his staff at the Mansfield army recruiting station receiving a letter of commendation for the part they played in the recent railroad tragedy here. Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, commanding the Fifth Service command, wrote: "I take great pleasure in commending you and your assistants for the attention to duty and resourcefulness displayed. Emergencies of this sort bring out the best in outstanding personnel." Commendation came as a result of a navy report, by Lt. Cmdr. A. E. Heser, on the job done by the army personnel.

RURAL SCHOOLS SEEK HIKE FOR NEEDY AREAS

City Educators Favor 'Flat Distribution' Boost in Foundation Payments.

By ROBERT VINCENT

COLUMBUS — (INS) — A potential disagreement between city and rural educators over the distribution formula may wreck the Ohio Education association's drive for an additional 23 million dollars in state aid to schools.

The professional publicity outfit handling the OEA's campaign arranged a news conference with four representative educators. One of the quartet—Hocking county Supt. S. H. Dillon—said the increase in the so-called "minimum standard" would be of most aid to his districts, while Findlay School Supt. F. L. Kinley, representing the cities, held out for an increase in the so-called "flat distribution."

The state now gives each school district $45 a year for each elementary pupil and $54 a year for each high school pupil, regardless of need. That is the "flat distribution." Then, if a district which has a tax levy of at least three mills but still fails to have available $67.50 for elementary pupils and $81 for high school pupils, the state makes up the difference. That figure is the so-called "minimum standard."

The program cost the state about 54 millions in 1945, and about 59 millions this year.

The OEA, seeking 82 millions annually, hopes to have the legislature increase the flat distribution to $55 and $66—again regardless of need—and the minimum standard to $100 and $120.

Asked if a greater increase in the "minimum standard" and le in the flat distribution would provide more assistance for rea distressed schools, Dillon said

Dillon's 12 districts pay elementary teachers an average of $ a year; high school teachers an average of $1,700. As a r there is only one teacher i county with a master's d Next year, he added, he have to take teachers wit a high school education.

THE MOST PENETRATING analysis of the deadly fascination of colyuming was penned by Don Marquis:-"The fact is that while column-writing ruined me, I loved it. It sapped my vitality, made corns and bunions on my brain, wrecked my life, and I adored doing it. During the three years since I have quit it I have had four or five terrible struggles not to go back to it. I am apt to walk into any newspaper office in America at any hour of the day or night and hand in a half-dozen columns if I didn't watch myself, and give them away for nothing but the pleasure of seeing them in type. I think it is the most destructive vice to which any writer may become addicted; and at the same time I love it and adore it and yearn for it."

Jimmy Walker once offered this reporter some shrewd counsel that we have often quoted. To wit: "If you make too many friends, soon you'll be afraid of hurting somebody's feelings and you won't be able to write anything about anybody."

When Mark Twain was running a crusading gazette, one of his targets told him that he was wasting his time. "One man cannot improve this world," he said.

Twain countered with: "Just make yourself honest and there will be one less rascal in the world!"

Another reason for Damon Runyon's reportorial genius was his ability to concentrate under the most difficult conditions. When he was a war correspondent during the initial global fracas a cannon exploded a few yards from where Damon was typing a yarn. But he continued working without batting an eyelash. Only after he had completed his story did he look up and nonchalantly inquire: "Did I hear something?"

The late Capt. Patterson always got a wallop out of being a reporter. He would often leave his publishing duties to turn up unexpectedly where news was being made and inform his reporter covering the assignment: "Here I am. What's to be done? Understand now, you're the boss and I'm working for you. What angle do you want me to take?"

About a century ago the firebrand of American journalism was a lady named Victoria Woodhull. She published a sheet that went in for personal journalism without any holds barred. As a result, she was beaten, thrown down a flight of stairs and even jailed. But it failed to stop her dauntless and candid reporting. . . . Incidentally, at one time this unusual and ambitious lady was a candidate for president!

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—My learned colleague, Mrs. Roosevelt, always a stimulating writer, has recently expressed, for the second time, opposition to freedom of expression for the Rev. Martin Niemoeller, the German Lutheran clergyman and a Nazi, too, I understand, down to the point at which the Nazi authority would have substituted Adolf Hitler or some pagan mist or fume rising from the Germa soil for the God of Christianity.

The Reverend Niemoeller has come to the United States to explain his position to those who are willing to listen, but with no suggestion that anyone should be compelled to listen or forbidden to disagree.

As one of those who disagrees with him on certain matters, I am mindful, nevertheless, that Mrs. Roosevelt has often held that communists should be allowed to explain their theory of government and advocate its adoption here. The supreme court has so held, too, with the proviso, however, that in advocating this change they must not incite persons to use violent means. I understand that Niemoeller doesn't advocate national socialism for the United States at all, but, at most, merely reveals it for our inspection.

* * *

THERE WAS MUCH MORE to National Socialism than the ostracism, then the persecution and finally the massacre of Jews. Some of its elements have been present in some phases of the New Deal in which Mrs. Roosevelt herself believed from kiver-to-kiver. National socialism is said to have wiped out the unions and the "labor movement" in Germany. I never understood that to be the case at all. I thought National Socialism merely converted the "labor movement" into an auxiliary of the ruling party under dictatorial bosses and it has seemed to me that the New Deal did this, too, only with less success. Here, the New Deal swept millions of workers into unions whose bosses were fierce partisans of the party and, when we got into the war, the agencies of the government, which were actually party cells, took over the functions of the union officials.

That is, the government took authority to say what wages a man should get, which, under true unionism, is the duty of the union representative in collective bargaining. In the recent John L. Lewis case, the government pretended to seize and operate the coal mines and thus to become the employer. We know the government did not "possess" or operate" those mines in the honest sense, but merely established a technical legal position as the employer. However, here was the government acting as both employer and bargaining agent to fix wages, which was just what the National Socialists did in Germany.

* * *

NOT ONLY THAT, but in 1944, when her late husband was running for his fourth term, Mrs. Roosevelt must have observed that many unions in the Roosevelt political party collected forced contributions from workers who opposed Roosevelt politically, and used them to re-elect him. The Italian Fascist party thought of that first and the German national socialists adopted it as a good idea. Then the Roosevelt party adopted it, too. We were told that it was just nonsense to say that our workers were forced to join these unions, but, if that was the case and they were willing and enthusiastic members, why did the unions insist on the closed shop and why did the New Deal government give it to them? And if the New Deal party abhorred National Socialism, why did it permit these unions to levy political taxes for its benefit from unwilling donors, and why didn't it repudiate this advice and spurn the money?

If all this was National Socialism in Germany it seems to me to follow that it was still National Socialism here, although I heard it called Democracy.

The Capital Transit company experimented with pink street cars in a vain hope to soothe the straphangers. A talking dog turned up in London, but scientists interviewed at the Smithsonian Institution said a prattling pup was a liar on its face.

The capitol cops, solidly Democratic for 16 years, began hunting other jobs; the Republican high command simultaneously began hunting Republicans with ambitions to be cops. Senator The Man Bilbo spent an unhappy month with his mouth taped shut because of an operation. The electric hairbrush with vibrating bristles for the weak-wristed went on the market.

John L. Lewis called a coal strike; then he called it off, misquoting Shakespeare in the doing. The government sold a battleship for junk.

The new Miss America tried to lure all womankind into wearing golden chains from ear to ear, but the ladies wouldn't lure. Style setter of the year was President Truman with the black and silver bow tie for evening wear. His daughter took up her studies for grand opry.

THE MESSRS. Paul Porter and John Small retired when the OPA and the CPA were strained from the soup. The old farmer's almanac predicted one of the coldest, snowiest winters yet. The cotton market collapsed. Vultures found a roosting place on the roof of one of the swankiest apartment houses in Washington.

The senators overhauled their underground trolley. The agriculture department issued a definitive treatise on how to crack nuts without also cracking knuckles.

The federal narcotics bureau discovered nobody thought to remove the cocaine from a load of life rafts on surplus sale. A consignment of girdles for WACS turned out to be worthless; they'd lost their snap when the government got around to selling them.

Nickel candy bars went to six cents. Postmaster General Robert Hannegan placed talking mail boxes in strategic spots to advertise bargains in air mail stamps and 1946 must have been a big year: I'm just getting a good start. More later, but not much later. Only 11 days are left.

CAA PLANS MOVE

Mayor Roy V. Vaughn said today he had received a telegram from the Civil Aeronautics authority stating that the agency is preparing to lease from the city a building at the airport for a communications station. The building would house equipment to be moved from Hayesville.

BANKS TO TAKE CONTRIBUTIONS IN FUND DRIVE

Committee Reports $8,200 In So Far in Campaign For New Friendly House.

Mansfield banks today began serving as collection depots for the current $60,000 Friendly House drive as the campaign entered its sixth day with $8,200 in the contribution coffer.

Paul Endriss, campaign chairman, said that the committee has worked out a plan with banks whereby contributions from individuals may be turned in to the banks for later collection by the committee.

Meanwhile, officials said the results of collections so far "looked encouraging," and that several special gifts from organizations had been turned in yesterday. These included $300 from the Moose lodge; $100 from the Richland County CIO Council; $100 from the American Legion; $25 from the PTA at Hedges school; and $25 from the Mansfield Parent-Teachers' Council.

Endriss said that today's total doesn't include the larger gifts expected from industry, retail stores, and business and professional groups in the city.

The drive is scheduled to end Jan. 15. The $60,000 representing the agency's share of the total building cost of $235,000 will be supplemented by 70 per cent of the total cost, provided by Mansfield manufacturers through the Richland Foundation.

The new settlement house will be built on three lots facing North Mulberry street, donated by Carl Sternbaum as a memorial to his son, Lt. Jacob Sternbaum, killed in World War II.

WHEAT SURPLUS SPURS EXPORTS

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Prospects of a price-depressing surplus in wheat after next year's harvests may spur government efforts to increase shipments of grain to hungry foreign nations in the immediate months ahead.

In the first forecast for the 1947 winter wheat crop, the agriculture department raised the possibility that production may set a new record and pile up more wheat than will be needed for domestic use, exports and reserves.

The forecast envisaged a winter wheat crop of 946,527,000 bushels, or 9.1 per cent more than this year's record yield of 873,893,000 bushels. By comparison, production for the 1935-44 period averaged only 618,019,000 bushels.

Should this forecast be borne out and the spring wheat crop be increased by the same percentage, next year's crop of winter and spring wheat combined would be about 1,253,000,000 bushels. The carry over from this year will amount to 200,000,000 bushels.

Miss Lorentz Dies In Chicago

Miss Barbara Lorentz, 88, native of Richland county, died at her home in Chicago Thursday following a brief illness.

Miss Lorentz was born in Springfield township Oct. 21, 1858, the daughter of Frederick and Catherine Winemiller Lorentz. She moved to Chicago 50 years ago. She taught school for a number of years but was retired at the time of her death.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Mary Palmer of Ontario and Mrs. Sadie Batten of Chicago, and several nieces and nephews.

The body will arrive at the Finefrock funeral home early Saturday and sevices will be conducted there Saturday morning by Rev. A. J. Staats, pastor of the Free Methodist church. Burial will be in Ontario cemetery.

MAYER NAMED TO CITY BOARD

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn today announced the reappointment of two members to city boards and commissions and the appointment of one new member.

Frank Mayer, 243 North Main street, has been appointed to the city health board to replace Dr. W. H. Wolford, 824 Park avenue west, who requested that he not be re-appointed, Vaughn said.

J. A. Willard, 117 Parkwood boulevard, was reappointed to the boxing commission and H. W. Arlin, 629 Edgewood road was renamed to the city recreation board.

All the terms are for five years, beginning Jan. 1, 1947.

Santa Claus Visits Moose; Youngsters Enjoy Vaudeville

It was first come, first served for seats at Mansfield Moose lodge annual Christmas party last night.

Only reserved seats were five front rows in the auditorium saved for children from the Richland county children's home.

Fully an hour before the party began youngsters and oldsters streamed into the lodge auditorium. Children gazed wide-eyed at the towering, glittering Christmas tree looming some 30 feet in the air, and then to the cowboy-attired Sunshiners whose chaps and 10-gallon hats fascinated them as much as their melodies were enjoyed by the adults.

All eyes popped wide with amazement and pleasure as 15 acts of vaudeville were presented by the children of lodge members. With Moose Frank Jocha acting as master of ceremonies, and with four-year-old Frank Levy starred as the youngest performer, the audience of more than 300 saw and heard everything from acrobatics to recitations.

When the applause had died down Santa Claus suddenly dropped in. He was greeted with shrieks of joy and anticipation. His "treats" were eagerly received.

Having warned all the children to "go right home to bed," Santa departed.

When asked to whom the credit for such a fine evening should go, Lodge Governor Lloyd Hughes said: "If I named them all I'd never get finished. Just say the lodge women's committee headed by Madge Jerell, and the men's golfing league, headed by Jrank Jocha, were most responsible. Mrs. Lloyd Lehman kindly offered to accompany the vaudeville acts."

40 et 8 Club Buys Building on Ashland Road for Clubrooms

Mansfield's 40 et 8 club of the American Legion, homeless since last October, will soon move into a new two-story home on Ashland road between Central and Fifth avenues, Hollis Moorhead, president of the club's Home Building company, said today.

The building formerly owned and occupied by the National Engineering and Pattern Works has been purchased and will be converted into a clubhouse, Moorhead said.

"We take possession Jan. 1 and hope to be completely installed by Jan. 15," Moorhead reported.

The building will be redecorated and a heating system will be installed. When completed, it will have a lounge and an assembly hall with a capacity of 400 persons.

The club was forced to leave its former quarters on West Fourth street when the Montgomery Ward company converted the building to storage use.

GORMAN-RUPP GIVES BONUS

More than 100 employes of Gorman-Rupp company received bonus checks raising their share in the company's profits to $635 each during 1946 at the eleventh annual Christmas dinner party in the Mansfield-Leland hotel last night.

Checks covering the second half of the year were distributed to the 110 employes last night. In addition, women employes and wives and girl friends of men employes received electric steam irons, and playing card packs were given to the men.

Additional bonuses accruing under an employer-employe Christmas Savings plan raised the average income above regular pay to about $675 per employe. All factory and office employes share in the yearly melon.

Msgr. R. C. Goebel, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic church, who spoke at the party, praised the cooperative spirit and understanding existing at Gorman-Rupp, where no work stoppages or lay-offs have ever existed.

"Cooperating and working together is the American way," he said. "Our land has been wonderfully blessed. We achieve our true destiny, only as we are able to work together in peace, with differences set aside in the common good."

J. C. Gorman, president of the company, was toastmaster. H. E. Rupp, vice president and secretary, reported briefly on phases of the company's employe welfare program.

Gorman and Rupp were given remembrances by employes. R. J. Alander, general manager of The News-Journal, a guest, spoke briefly, and Miss Helen Dickson, a Gorman-Rupp employe, sang a Christmas solo during the after-dinner program. Biss Leicy and his orchestra played for dancing and Meisse, the magician, of Columbus entertained.

Nineteen members have earned the badges, it was announced.

Things won't ease up at the Mansfield YMCA during the holidays. A special holiday schedule has been prepared by Program Director Don Cram, and it calls for a series of events to keep the boys busy, beginning next Monday. Only Christmas and New Year's day will be quiet at the 'Y.' Feature of the program will be a grade school holiday basketball tournament, beginning Dec. 30 and running through Jan. 3.

WORTH IT—

Those closest to the fire always feel the most heat. Such was the case of a mother whose children have attended Friendly House regularly and who turned over her Christmas bonus check to the $60,000 campaign yesterday. When told that such a large contribution wasn't necessary for one person, the woman answered by saying that her children had received "a lot more than the amount of the check from Friendly House." The donor also reported that her check had started the contribution in her department at Mansfield Tire and Rubber company and that the department was striving for a 100 percent donation. The campaign, which will close Jan. 15, is to raise funds for a new settlement building on North Mulberry street.

SANTA WON'T FORGET—

Santa isn't going to forget the little girl who wrote an appealing letter to Adj. R. L. Gutterman of the Volunteers of America, yesterday. The child, who appealed for toys for "us kids," said her father had been ill throughout the summer and still wasn't able to do heavy work, and that there "wouldn't be any toys" for her brothers and sisters this year. Gutterman said the letter was by far the most pathetic he'd read this season and added that there WILL be toys and plenty of Christmas goodies under their tree.

DOESN'T MIND COLD—

Mrs. B. K. Higinbotham, 317 Bartley avenue, could hardly believe her eyes—or her ears—yesterday. While doing her afternoon housework, she heard the unmistakable chirp of a robin. She looked out. There, sure enough, was a robin perched on an icy branch of a tree, acting for all the world as though it didn't mind the cold at all. "Must be a hardy bird," Mrs. Higinbotham said, "to stay in this climate when most of his breed is taking it easy, wintering in the sunny south." A few robins stay in Ohio during the winter, but they're seen oftener during thaws in January and February than in December.

It apparently was severe and unusual, for newspapers gave it top billing on front pages, the mayor said.

Emergencies of this sort bring out the best in outstanding personnel." Commendation came as a result of a navy report, by Lt. Cmdr. A. E. Heiser, on the job done by the army personnel.

RURAL SCHOOLS SEEK HIKE FOR NEEDY AREAS

City Educators Favor 'Flat Distribution' Boost in Foundation Payments.

By ROBERT VINCENT

COLUMBUS — (INS) — A potential disagreement between city and rural educators over the distribution formula may wreck the Ohio Education association's drive for an additional 23 million dollars in state aid to schools.

The professional publicity outfit handling the OEA's campaign arranged a news conference with four representative educators. One of the quartet—Hocking county Supt. S. H. Dillon—said the increase in the so-called "minimum standard" would be of most aid to his districts, while Findlay School Supt. F. L. Kinley, representing the cities, held out for an increase in the so-called "flat distribution."

The state now gives each school district $45 a year for each elementary pupil and $54 a year for each high school pupil, regardless of need. That is the "flat distribution." Then, if a district which has a tax levy of at least three mills but still fails to have available $67.50 for elementary pupils and $81 for high school pupils, the state makes up the difference. That figure is the so-called "minimum standard."

The program cost the state about 54 millions in 1945, and about 59 millions this year.

The OEA, seeking 82 millions annually, hopes to have the legislature increase the flat distribution to $55 and $66—again regardless of need—and the minimum standard to $100 and $120.

Asked if a greater increase in the "minimum standard" and le in the flat distribution would provide more assistance for re distressed schools, Dillon said

Dillon's 12 districts pay ele tary teachers an average of $ a year; high school teacher an average of $1,700. As a there is only one teacher county with a master's Next year, he added, he have to take teachers wit a high school education.

251 AREA VETS PARTICIPATE IN FARM TRAINING

Nearly 3,000 in Ohio Learn About Rural Life.

Of the nearly 3,000 World War II veterans now training on Ohio farms, 251 are listed with the Mansfield sub-regional office of the Veterans' Administration, G. D. Weidemaier, manager, said today.

Since the Veterans Administration started on-the-farm training program a year ago, in cooperation with the Ohio department of education, there has been a steady increase in the number of Ohio veterans who have selected farming as their vocational objective, the Columbus VA office reports.

The on-farm training program for both disabled and able veterans is divided into two phases—self proprietorship and employer-training.

Self proprietorship, in which 89 Mansfield area men are engaged, is for veterans who own, rent or lease the farms on which they live. The employer-training program in which 162 area veterans are enrolled, enables veterans to receive training on the farms of experienced and successful farm operators.

To obtain the best possible guidance and technical service in the instruction of each veteran, VA has organized state and local committees consisting of representatives of vocational agricultural, the Agricultural Extension service, and the Farm Home administration. All committees serve without remuneration from the VA.

Primary duties of the committees are to coordinate the services and technical information offered by the agricultural agencies, recommend farms as to their suitability for training veterans, and assist in the development of individual programs.

A definite training program is prepared by the VA training officer, assisted by the agricultural training agency, the VA agricultural training committee, and the veteran himself.

Numerous high schools are cooperating in the program, either conducting their own evening agricultural classes or by opening their building to the various training agencies.

Kiwanis Club Hears Story Of 'Biggest Job In U. S.'

The story of the "biggest public works job in the United States," was related to Kiwanis club members and guests yesterday by Col. Stewart Weaver of U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Relating his experiences as head of the Real Estate and Utilities division of the Engineer Corps, Col. Weaver described work accomplished during the war in "caring for installations and equipment which rose to the sum of $48 billion dollars in value during the peak year of the war."

"This tremendous job was accomplished against terrific odds, such as the shortage of qualified personnel, the reluctance of the old army hierarchy to accept scientific methods of handling certain engineering problems, and the instances of confusion and competition in the various chains of army, navy and air force commands.

"Major factors accounting for the accomplishment of the job," Weaver pointed out," were the writing of a series of technical manuals—without which the army never makes a move; the drafting into headquarters and important field jobs of specialists in 25 varied fields, and the inauguration in the service of intensive engineer training programs and a system of cost accounting."

"All in all I think we did a good job against great pressures," Weaver said, "I wouldn't have missed it for anything, and I don't want any more of it."

William L. Athose, program chairman, introduced the speaker, at the club's luncheon in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

That New Year's Eve Binge Will Give Aches to Billfolds as Well as Heads

(By United Press)

The price of gayety this New Year's eve will be slightly higher, night clubs will be crowded but not jammed; and the nation probably will consume less aspirin when it awakens New Year's day.

Night club and cabaret operators across the country are expecting a less boisterous celebration than was occasioned by the birth of 1946. A survey showed that cover charges and food and liquor prices will be higher in some places, but will remain the same in many cities.

New York enjoyed one of its biggest binges last New Year's eve, but the city's fabulous night life has fallen off sharply in recent weeks and this New Year's celebration is expected to be less exuberant. But despite the recent night club slump, the after dark trade is anticipating a brisk volume of business to welcome the New Year.

Manhattan's big glamour marts charge a flat price per person for New Year's celebrations, including dinner, breakfast, drinks and paper hats and horns. These prices in general will be the same as last year, with a top of $20 per person. Smaller spots will charge higher prices for food and liquor.

Only one New York night spot, the Embassy, charged the $20 top last year, but this New Year's there will be several, including the Diamond Horseshoe, the Carnival and the Latin Quarter. Last year only one place made the wearing of formal clothes mandatory. This year the Hotel New Yorker's terrace room, El Morocco and the Hotel St. Regis will demand soup and fish attire.

Mere $100 Per Person.

The highest priced spot in the nation probably will be Chicago's new Cameo restaurant, where the tariff will be a mere $100 per person. That includes the evening's entertainment with all the pheasant you can eat and all the champagne you can drink. The average price in Chicago's better hotels and night clubs, however, will be about $15 per person, plus 20 per cent federal tax.

Hollywood's famous night spots may be slightly less crowded than last year. Cabaret proprietors said the public seems to be economy conscious. For the first time the lavish Cocoanut Grove will include drinks with dinner, breakfast and entertainment, for which celebrants will pay a lump sum of $25 per person plus $5.63 tax. Last year the dinners alone ranged from $12.50 to $18.

Earl Carroll's at Hollywood said reservations were coming in stronger than last year, and that 1,100 persons would be accommodated at prices similar to last year's—$12.50 and $15 for dinner, not including liquor. Mocombo's price for dinner and supper was the same—$15 per person.

The recent night club slump has hit other cities hard, notably Detroit and Pittsburgh. A spokesman for the Pittsburgh Night Club Owners guild said that increased liquor supplies for home consumption, coupled with a tendency to stay at home and save money, probably will cut into the New Year's eve trade.

At Detroit, rationing of Scotch and Canadian whisky ended this week, and cabaret proprietors believed that as a result more people would celebrate New Year's eve in their homes. Detroit's night life trade has fallen off as much as 50 per cent.

3,200 Tappan Employes Crowd Theater For Company's Annual Christmas Party

Thirty-two hundred men, women and children relaxed, laughed, and applauded a top-notch professional stage show during afternoon and evening performances at the Ohio Theater yesterday. The affair was the annual Christmas party of the Tappan Stove company. The audiences were made up of employes of the company and their families.

More than 20 performers exhibited skill and provided thrills during the one-and-a-half-hour show that sent the crowd away in a jovial Christmas spirit.

Highest moment of suspense during the performance came when three members of the Zoppe Troupe climbed to the top of a ladder to balance themselves standing upright on each other's shoulders.

Another thrill was provided by Unicyclist Mel Hall, who capped off his act by peddling a high unicycle around with his hands while he balanced himself on his shoulders as his body extended straight upward.

Fancy Roping.

In addition to the unicycle and ladder balancing acts, those attending the party saw some fancy rope twirling by the Strong Family, a Comedy lamp juggling act by Oscar Courtney and an acrobatic act by Samaroff's Dogs.

Among the tricks the dogs performed superbly to the delight of their audience were a number of difficult backflips. One pint-size dog dressed in a sailor suit charmed the audience as he strutted upright about the stage and paused to sit down every few feet.

Speros Karas and his 14-piece orchestra furnished background music and played several additional numbers with Joan Brandt as vocalist.

Candlelight Procession.

The program was opened with a candlelight procession down the center aisle by the Grace Episcopal Boys' Choir of 23 voices. On the stage the choir sang, "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," "Noel" and "Hark the Herald Angels Sing."

Dick Tappan extended greetings to the party-goers and John Valentine doubled as Santa Claus and master of ceremonies.

Six company employes dressed as clowns circulated about the theater and on the stage while the crowd was moving in and waiting for the main show to start.

For the youngsters there was also a movie of Bugs Bunny in his unsuccessful role of the "Wabbit Hunter."

Candy and Nuts.

On the way out the youngsters received candy, nuts, apples and comic books. A total of 600 pounds of candy, 450 pounds of nuts, 1,000 apples and 1,000 comic books were handed out by Santa Claus and his helpers.

Th annual Christmas party was sponsored by the Recreation committee at the plant and the Tappan Stove company.

The parties had been abandoned for several years during the war and last year when the first postwar party could have been held, a flu and scarlet fever epidemic forced its cancellation.

Members of the committee responsible for the party were Nick Wever, Stan Ginnever, John Hoff, jr., Jack Lyons, Harry Miller, Donna Vaneff, Charles Tucker, Wayne Terry, George Condos and Richard Creveling.

JUDGE FREES DRIVER

HAMILTON —(AP)— Municipal Judge Harry F. Walsh has dismissed manslaughter charges which had been filed against Donald Fuerst, 21, of Hamilton. FOURTH LIKE SINGLETON

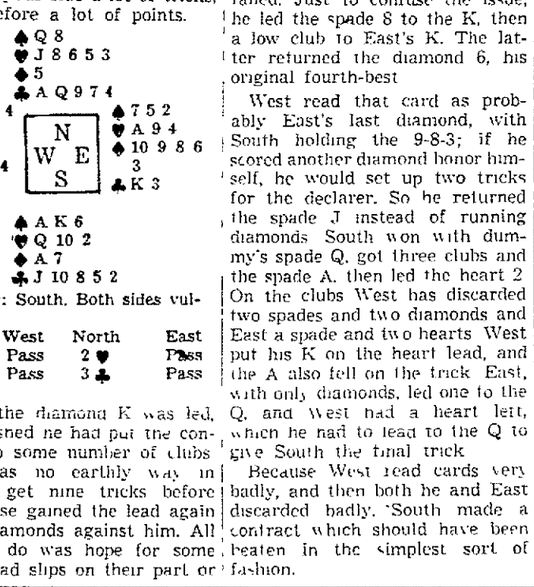
ON EITHER the original lead or later, the card led by your partner may sometimes be read as the only one he has, when it is actually his fourth-best, or vice versa. In such a situation, you have to consider other known factors in order to determine which way you are going to treat it. If you decide incorrectly, it may cost your side a lot of tricks, and therefore a lot of points.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 NT

When the diamond K was led, South wished he had put the contract into some number of clubs There was no earthly way in sight to get nine tricks before the defense gained the lead again to run diamonds against him. All he could do was hope for some kind of bad slips on their part or extreme luck in one form or another.

Seeing no purpose in holding up and some in chucking a bluff to indicate no fear of diamonds, he came right in with his A, after East played the high 10, and sent forth the club J. He overtook it with the A in the hope of catching a singleton K, and things looked blacker than ever when that failed. Just to confuse the issue, he led the spade 8 to the K, then a low club to East's K. The latter returned the diamond 6, his original fourth-best

West read that card as probably East's last diamond, with South holding the 9-8-3; if he scored another diamond honor himself, he would set up two tricks for the declarer. So he returned the spade J instead of running diamonds South won with dummy's spade Q, got three clubs and the spade A, then led the heart 2 On the clubs West has discarded two spades and two diamonds and East a spade and two hearts West put his K on the heart lead, and the A also fell on the trick East, with only diamonds, led one to the Q, and West had a heart left, which he had to lead to the Q to give South the final trick

Because West read cards very badly, and then both he and East discarded badly, South made a contract which should have been beaten in the simplest sort of fashion.

Officers of the company now are Eckstein, president and general manager and Mrs. Eckstein, secretary. Dr. Brown retains a minority interest in the firm.

Eckstein said the transaction will not affect the operation of the business, and it will be the policy of the company to continue to serve the farmers of the community with complete elevator service.

Dr Brown purchased the elevator from the Tiro Equity Union Exchange company in 1937.

CAGE CARNIVAL OPENS TONIGHT AT SENIOR HIGH

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

SPORTS ODDITY of the year was the St. Louis Cardinal-Brooklyn Dodger deadlock for the National league crown according to the AP. . . . Second was the shift employed by the Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Browns to stop Ted Williams. . . . Ed McKeever, who recently resigned at Cornell, is "one of several" coaches being considered for an assistant coaching job with the Detroit Lions. . . . Ace Parker, who is expected to retire from pro football, will get his third shot at major league baseball next spring with the Chicago Cubs. . . . He plays shortstop and led the Piedmont league at the plate last summer.

Tonight's welterweight title tussle between Ray "Sugar" Robinson and Tommy Bell will be New York's seventh world championship go of 1946. . . . It will be staged in the Garden. . . . All six of the other championship clambakes ended in kayoes. . . . Billy Conn yesterday was voted "flop of the year" in a poll of AP sports writers. . . . Naturally, on his showing or lack of it, if you will, against Joe Louis for the heavyweight toga. . . . The bout had been built up for five years as the battle of the century and fanatics paid a top of $100 a seat. . . . Even congressional criticism was showered on the "battle" as Conn danced for seven rounds before Louis flattened him in the eighth.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Hugh Fullerton jr., Sports Roundup: "A novice heavyweight on the University of Virginia boxing team is Edgar Allen Poe IV. Suppose he'll have the fans Raven?"

College athletics in the east are on the way back to peace-time standards as the Eastern college athletic conference has voted to restore pre-war eligibility rulings on Sept. 1, 1947. . . . The Ohio conference has placed a ban on freshmen playing varsity sports after this season. . . . Ohio Wesleyan's application for re-admission to the Ohio conference has been accepted, subject to the customary year's probation. . . . There are now 22 schools in the unwieldy circuit.

Johnny Hallabrin's Ohio State junior varsity football team broke even in eight games. . . . The former Tyger star's proteges racked up 160 points to 128 for the opposition.

Rex Reese is checking fight cards throughout Ohio to try and line up the best fistic talent for his next professional boxing show sometime in January. . . . Third Baseman Merrill May has collected $4,500 from the Philadelphia Phillies in settlement under the selective service law which guarantees a veteran his pre-war job.

There's a title go between Joe Louis and Curtis Sheppard in the air for next summer at Baltimore. . . . Jack Dempsey, in his annual rankings, picked the "Hatchet Man" behind the champ. . . . Other big guys listed (in order) Joey Maxim, Billy Conn, Elmer Ray, Joe Baksi, Tami Mauriello, Jersey Joe Walcott, Pat Valentine, Bruce Woodcock and Lee Q Murray. . . . Around ringside terrace they say that Dempsey has more than a rooting interest in Sheppard.

Sam Fox has been timing Mansfield amateur and pro boxing shows for 20 years. . . . But last night he got a new experience. . . . Sam was pressed into service as a judge of the action-filled simon pure fistic festival at Senior high. . . . The Mansfield boxers who competed on the card were treated to steaks at the Phoenix after the show.

Illini Leave

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—(AP)—A 44-man Illinois football squad will leave tonight for Pasadena, Calif., to meet UCLA in the Rose Bowl game on Jan. 1.

TWO CONTESTS ON OPENING NIGHT'S CARD

Bexley Meets North; Mansfield Plays Libbey.

Tonight's the night for the initial installment of Mansfield's top basketball attraction of the 1946-47 season—the first annual Tyger cage carnival.

The carnival brings Toledo Libbey, Akron North and Columbus Bexley here for a two-day program which will feature some of the best basketball being played in Ohio Class A schools. Two games are scheduled for tonight and a pair for tomorrow with tickets going on sale at 6:15 each night.

Columbus Bexley and Akron North open the show at 7:30 this evening with Mansfield meeting Toledo Libbey at 8:45. Losers of the games meet in the first tilt Saturday with winners playing the finale.

Akron North's lettermen studded aggregation is the only team that will carry a losing record into the competition. Middletown defeated the Akron combine for the Ohio title last spring.

Coach Lu Hosfield has six lettermen on the 1946-47 Viking squad but the group hasn't started clicking. North has dropped decisions to Barberton, 44-28; Cuyahoga Falls, 53-37 and Akron Garfield, 55-44.

Three members of the starting squad stand over the six-foot mark. Center Bob Shank stands 6-5 and Guard Bob Sloan goes 6-2. Shank, Russell Beal, Sal Crano, Vern Petri, Al Valndza and Al Vahner are the monogram winners.

Toledo Libbey has won two of three games. The Cowboys defeated an alumni quintet, 53 to 35 and Sylvania, 42 to 33 before losing to Whitmer, 32 to 28. There are three lettermen and six sixfooters on the Toledo squad.

Three of the "high" boys—Jim Fenner, Bob Momsen and Rubelle Ashley—will be in the starting lineup against Mansfield. Ashley is a letterman while Fenner, a 197-pound senior, is the leading scorer. The other monogram winners are Bill Trost and Bob Keholm, a pair of watch charm forwards.

Libbey took second in the Toledo city league last year.

Coach Vern Hoffman is still undecided on his starting lineup. The Tygers have won three of four contests but will be without the services of Nick Gagich and possibly Ralph Majors tonight. Gagich is out with a boil infection.

Majors' twisted ankle is slowly responding to treatment and the veteran forward should be ready to see a little action tonight or tomorrow. Only sure starters are: Tommy Bloor, Chuck Sisco and Ollie Cline. Other starting positions will be filled by Shelley Swank, Dick Flockencier, Phil Pittinger, Bernie Weaver or Norbert Shibinsky.

Keglers Notch High Scores

Five keglers in the City A league bowled 600 scores at the Colony Bowling Alleys.

L. Pillar turned in the highest with a 187-224-214—630. H. Heiser hit the pins for 193-231-201—628.

Other bowlers to receive laurels were C. Englehorn, 191-205-212—608, C. Gerberick, 214-215-179—608 and E. Henrich 175-189-239—603. Henrich had the high individual score in his last game.

In the Victory league, H. Mercurio paced the bowling enthusiasts with 214 for individual scoring honors. A. Milligan had three game high honors with 202-181-206—592.

Butler-Lexington Cage Battle Tops Richland County Card

Butler's hot-shot cagers get their toughest test of the season tonight when they tangle with Lexington on the Minutemen's court.

Coach Ed Wysocki's Bulldogs have racked up five straight victories while Lexington has notched four wins in five county starts. Butler has compiled the phenomenal average of 47.6 points in winning the five contests while holding the opposition to 21.8.

Butler, the defending county champs, rocked Lucas, 44-31; Plymouth, 47-30; Ontario, 38-11; Union, 53-21 and Shiloh, 56-23. Lexington lost only to Bellville, 32-30 while defeating Plymouth, 33-19; Union, 42-34; Shiloh, 46-23, and Ontario, 45-32.

Lexington has averaged 38.4 and its leading scorer, Rollin Ford, has accounted for 73 markers, an average of 14.6. Bellville, which is tied with the Minutemen for second place in the standings, has averaged 31.8 a game.

The Minutemen's chances depend, for a good part, on whether Ray Cline, 6-2 center, can play. He has been out for the past ten days because of illness and will not be in top condition even if he gets into the contest.

Union plays at Bellville, Plymouth at Shiloh and Ontario at Lucas in the other county games tonight. Ontario is fourth and Lucas fifth in the league standings.

Don Stake of Lucas leads the individual scoring race with 74 points.

Appleseed 5 Wins, 34 to 33

Johnny Appleseed cagers kept their undefeated record intact yesterday afternoon by squeezed past Crestline, 34-33.

Coach Norm Henline's Pioneers trailed at the quarter, 12-8, and forged ahead, 23-17, at the half. The Appleseed quintet led 26-25, going into the final stanza.

Charles Marchant paced the Pioneers with nine field goals and two gift shots for 20 markers. Jim Anderson, Appleseed pivot man, fouled out of the game mid-way in the second period.

Non-scoring substitutes—Appleseed, Harmon, Alexander. Crestline—Ford, Lamemoun.

Team mates selected Joe Watt, veteran wingback, as Syracuse's "most valuable" player for the 1946 football season.

Marengo Official Protests Cardington Cage Victory

MT. GILEAD—(AP)—Claiming that an opposing player illegally took a rebound from a foul shot of a teammate and scored the winning basket, Supt. John Florence of Marengo high school has protested the victory of Cardington over Marengo last Tuesday. The score was 36-34. The protest was filed with the Ohio High School Athletic commission.

Bell to Ring For Sugar Ray

NEW YORK—(AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, the "uncrowned champion," gets his delayed chance to make it official tonight when he takes on Tommy Bell of Youngstown, Ohio, with the welterweight title hanging in the balance.

After five years of waiting for a shot at the 147-pound crown, the Harlem sugar man is a 1 to 4 favorite to whip Bell and earn recognition by both the New York commission and the National Boxing Association after their 15-round Madison square Garden bout.

Partly because they figure Robinson deserves a title chance and partly because they know Bell as a capable workman who never has been knocked out, the fans are expected to turn out 15,000 strong for a $90,000 gate.

Beaten only once in his career of 75 fights, and then by Middleweight Jake LaMotta, Robinson had been matched with Marty Servo for a championship scramble before the Schenectady welter abdicated his throne because of a sore nose. Bell finally was selected as a logical foe and all agreed to recognize the winner as the new king.

Baltimore No. 1 Choice To Replace Seahawks

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Every indication but one today pointed to Baltimore as the 1947 home of the orphaned Miami Seahawks of the All-America Football conference just two days in advance of the playoff game between the Cleveland Browns and the New York Yankees for the 1946 loop title.

That lone indication was the hint from Commissioner James Crowley's Ohio headquarters that Hampton Poole, coach of the Florida Seahawks during the last half of their present campaign, would represent the franchise in the player draft here Saturday.

Crowley, a week ago, used $60,000 of league funds to pay Seahawk debts and announced that the club's fate would be determined at a special session of the club owners here Friday. When it became known in Baltimore that Robert Rodenberg of Washington had obtained a football lease on the municipal stadium in the Maryland city for 1947 it was believed that the club would be moved there.

Rodenberg, in Baltimore, intimated yesterday that if his group did acquire the franchise Poole might not be retained as coach. Other cities in the postwar loop are New York, Brooklyn, Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Dallas, Boston and Philadelphia also are reported as interested.

Other Miami backers are known to be interested in retaining the franchise and there are indications that the holder of the eighth franchise in the young circuit would not be determined until a league business meeting sometime next month. However, Baltimore representatives flew here during the night to present their case.

While the fate of the Seahawks occupied most of the official pre-meeting gossip today, the man in the street was primarily concerned with Sunday's game and had installed the Browns as a 15½ point favorite over the club the Clevelanders had beaten twice during the regular season.

In neither of those defeats were the Yankees able to use Ace Parker, star of their single wing backfield who tossed 115 passes during the regular season and had only three intercepted. In addition, the New Yorkers approach a game without a hospital list for the first time this season.

Cleveland, meanwhile, must play with only three regular tackles. Jim Daniell, team captain and star tackle, lost a decision to the Cleveland police last Saturday night and was dismissed from the squad Monday by Coach Paul Brown.

Lou (Golden Toe) Groza, another tackle who is the conference's leading scorer by virtue of conversions and field goals, is out with injuries, leaving only regulars Ernie Blandin, Lou Rymkus and Chet Adams for the vital line spot. Bill Willis, ace Negro lineman, will alternate at tackle and guard.

Adams, by coincidence, also takes over Groza's point kicking duties.

Both teams worked out briefly yesterday.

The Iceman Cometh

Elwin (Moe) Morris, Pittsburgh Hornets' dynamiter in the American Hockey league, can't get enough of the ice world during the hockey season. The campaign is no sooner over when Moe grabs his tongs, climbs on his truck and starts leaving pools of water in front of the ice boxes of his Toronto customers.

Fox Hunters At Springmill

Richland county game and pest control holds its third fox hunt of the season tomorrow morning at Springmill. The hunters are to assemble at the Roseland garage at 9.

Dinner will be served at the Ontario Community church at 12 o'clock.

A meeting was held last night at the Blue Goose to make final arrangements for the hunts scheduled for the holidays. Team captains were elected for the season and each man was given an arm band so that he could be more easily recognized.

Hunts have been scheduled for Lucas, Yankeetown and Lexington.
